Ike, Macmillan Launch Talks To Map Strategy In Cold War

Close Senate Vote Due On Labor Bill

Both Sides Predict Narrow Margin In Next Week's Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both sides predicted today a close vote in next week's Senate floor showdown on the three major points in disagreement on the labor regulation bill.

Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz), supporting a move for the Senate to instruct its conferees to give in to the House on the points, estimated his side would have 45 to 55 votes. A majority of the full Senate is 51.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) offering an alternative plan to accept the House language in part but with some Senate provisos, said he was hopeful of victory.

The Senate floor fight was set Friday when the Senate - House conferees finished their ninth day of intensive sessions on the complex legislation.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, one of the conferees, announced he believed a deadlock had been reached on the three points and that he was ready to go back to the Senate floor.

Dirksen filed a resolution to instruct the Senate conferees to accept the House provisions on no man's land, secondary boycotts and organizational picketing.

Kennedy said he would have preferred to wait until Monday before taking this step, but he filed a substitute resolution.

His substitute would put the Senate on record in favor of compromise proposals on the deadlocked sections. These were offered earlier this week by the four Senate Democrats on the conference.

The conferees already have agreed on the first six titles of the bill dealing with union financial operations, elections and other internal matters.

The controversy is over the sev-

Eisenhower Ends Visit With Queen

Crowds Cheer Chief In Ride To British Premier's Estate

WENDOVER, England (AP — In the serene peace of the English countryside, President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan turned today to a discussion of Western strategy in the cold war dealings with the Soviet Union.

The President, preparing for his talks next month with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, arrived shortly after midday for a week end of conferences at Macmillan's secluded country estate, Chequers.

The President flew in from Scotland where he had visited with Queen Elizabeth II and her family. He was met at Benson Airport by Macmillan.

At Benson, 18 miles from Chequers, a crowd of several hundred applauded and cheered as Eisenhower stepped from a British jet airliner. Crowds cheered Eisenhower in the villages along the way on the 40-minute drive to Chequers.

There was a brief demonstration outside the gates at Chequers by a few members of the League of Empire Loyalists, which never forgave the United States for opposing Britain's invasion of the Suez Canal Zone in 1956.

There was a scuffle between a demonstrator and a spectator, but it was unlikely either Macmillan or Eisenhower saw it because their car passed swiftly through the gate.

At Macmillan's 600 - year - old country residence, he and Eisenhower presumably got started at lunch on their discussion of international problems.

They planned to retire to a cozy second floor room, known as the Long Gallery, for further discussion of such problems as West Berlin, disarmament, a ban on nuclear weapons tests, and strengthening of the North Atlantic alliance.

Eisenhower and Macmillan rode in a gray Rolls Royce convertible with the top down. Each wore a topcoat, and the smiling President frequently tipped his hat to folks who called out cheery greetings.

Fair Throngs Total 28,000 Before Curtain

114th Spectacle Will Conclude Tonight; Balloonist Jumps

The curtain will drop tonight on the 114th annual Columbiana County Fair with today's attendance expected to add a whopping number of patrons to the total of 28,000 checked in the gates through Friday.

There were 4,000 paid admissions yesterday, along with 2,000 children under 12 admitted free, and hundreds representing exhibitors and others with passes.

The concluding events began this morning with a horse pulling contest, while the afternoon program started with the final card of harness racing. Another balloon ascension was set for 5 p. m. and the windup tonight will see the livestock and machinery parade at 7 and the performance of the "Frosty Follies" ice revue.

After two previous attempts John Oliver, 72, former Lisbon watchmaker, made a spectacular balloon ascension yesterday at 7:25 p. m. to thrill the crowd and the thousands parked on highways around the fairgrounds.

Steel Walkout Drawing Near To 50th Day

Talks To Resume Wednesday; Both Sides Standing Pat

NEW YORK (AP)—When negotiations resume Wednesday, the nationwide steel strike will be 50 days old, without a sign of a settlement in sight.

Both sides appeared to be standing pat.

Meanwhile most of the 28,000 steelworkers idled in New York State become eligible next week for $45 a week in state unemployment benefits.

New York is the only major industrial state where state unemployment benefits are available to strikers. Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois laws bar them from state benefits. In New York, benefits start after a walkout has lasted seven weeks.

Some railroad executives and white collar employes have received pay cuts as a result of the strike.

The Pennsylvania Railroad announced that salaries of all non-union employes earning $10,000 a year or more will be cut 10 per cent and employes earning between $7,200 and $10,000 face a five per cent cut, effective Tuesday.

The union says it does not now have a specific demand on the bargaining table, but is seeking a "substantial" wage increase. Prestrike wages averaged $3.11 an hour.

The steel companies oppose any increase in labor costs, on the ground that it would spur inflation.

The strike, now in its 46th day, has idled half a million steelworkers and shut down 90 per cent of the nation's steel production.

Drifting Auto Strikes Side Of Oak St. Home

A drifting car struck the side of an Oak St. home Friday night in one of two minor mishaps investigated by city police.

A car owned by Carl Duke of Baxter St. drifted from its parking place and into the side of a home owned by Mrs. Edith Fulmer, 1031 Oak St., about 10 p. m., officers said.

The outside and inside walls of the home were damaged while the front end of Duke's 1953 sedan was damaged slightly.

A car driven by Lucille M. Stover, 23, of State Route 66, Newell, struck a parked car owned by Albert Wise of Washington, Pa., Friday afternoon at 3:34 at 7th and Jackson Sts., police said.

Red China Paper Raps U.S. On Laos Fighting

TOKYO (AP) — A Communist Chinese newspaper charged today the United States wants the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) to interfere in the fighting in Laos.

"It has long sought to drag Laos into the SEATO bloc," the paper, Ta Kung Pao, declared.

The commentary was the second brief reaction from Red China since America's decision this week to send enough new military aid to revolt-troubled Laos to equip an additional 5,000 troops.

Mackintosh's Talk Fruitless

Strikes Indicated At Salem, Canton Plant

No progress was reported in a contract extension talk Thursday afternoon in Midland between United Steelworkers Local 1269 of the Mackintosh - Hemphill Division of the E. W. Bliss Co. and Canton company officials, Alex Bowie, union staff representative, said today.

He said the union turned down the company's proposal for an extension without the "package deal" expected in New York negotiations, paid insurance and a new wage system.

Bowie said some progress was made in wording of the non-economic sections of the contract. He said the union will meet again with company officials after consulting John S. Johns of Canton, District 27 director.

Bowie said both the company's plants at Canton and Salem are expected to be on strike Monday when their contracts expire.

Union locals of both met with company officials Friday and were scheduled to meet again today. The union Friday turned down a company offer for an extension which did not include the "package deal," he said.

I. W. Abel, international steel union secretary-treasurer, reported on up-to-date New York steel negotiations Friday evening at Beaver Falls High School auditorium, Bowie said.

Howard Hague, international steel union vice president, will be in Midland Monday about 2 or 3 p. m. during a tour of picket lines in District 20. He will be accompanied by Kay Kluz of Ambridge.

Veto Includes 2 Dam Funds

But Stratton, Pike Projects Seen 'Safe'

Funds for two district super-dam projects were among appropriations in the water projects bill vetoed by President Eisenhower but actually neither is in danger of cutoff.

The bill contains $6,800,000 to continue construction on the Stratton super-dam and $3,500,000 for initial construction on a similar Ohio River structure near Yorkville.

The projects received "continuing funds" so are considered safe from the presidential veto as they were cleared by all committees of Congress.

The bill, which includes appropriations for seven construction and one planning project in Ohio, was vetoed by the President just before he left for Europe.

The White House made the announcement Friday, saying the President objected to the $1,206,000,000 bill's provision for 67 unbudgeted projects.

The bill would have provided $30 million more than the President requested. Eisenhower estimated that the 67 unbudgeted items would eventually cost $800 million.

"It ignores the necessity for an orderly development of America's water resources within the nation's fiscal ability," he told the U.S. House in his veto message.

Other Ohio projects in the bill include:

Construction — Cleveland harbor, $400,000; Dillon Reservoir, $5,160,000; Roseville, $284,000; West Branch Mahoning River, $525,000; Muskingum River reservoirs, $500,000.

Planning — Belleville locks and dam, Ohio and West Virginia, $125,000.

Capitol Hill Enraged Over Veto By Ike

Spotless Record Of Never Having One Overriden Periled

WASHINGTON (AP)—Outraged cries on Capitol Hill, evoked by veto of the water projects bill, signalled a serious threat today to President Eisenhower's record of never having a veto over-riden.

Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) said an attempt would be made in the House Wednesday to override the veto of the $1,206,000,000 bill.

Reaction to news of the veto Friday was quick and bitter.

Rep. Neal Smith (D-Iowa) said Eisenhower "spends time at golf courses but wants no lakes for common folks."

And Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) said he doubed Eisenhower knew about the veto. "After all, he is in Europe," Johnston said. "No doubt his ghost-writers did it themselves."

The White House said Eisenhower vetoed the bill just before leaving for Europe this week. There was no word on why the announcement was held up until Friday.

The assistant Senate Republican leader, Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California, also was critical. He said he regretted the veto because the bill "includes funds for numerous highly important and indispensable federal projects in California."

The measure, sometimes called the "pork barrel bill" by critics, provides money for projects to curb floods, improve navigation, produce power, keep up beaches, and reclaim arid land.

After differences were worked out in conference this session, the Senate passed the bill 82-9 and the House by voice vote. The original version had been approved by a 380-20 vote in the House before it went to conference.

Paris Council In Rare Gesture To Greet Ike

PARIS (AP) — The Paris Municipal Council in a rare gesture has called on Parisians to celebrate the arrival of President Eisenhower Sept. 2.

This courtesy gesture was made only once before when the council called on the citizens to turn out to cheer Queen Elizabeth II when she arrived for a state visit in 1956.

Dozing Driver Unhurt

NEW CUMBERLAND —Lloyd E. Glover, 22, escaped injury when he fell asleep while driving on Route 2 and plunged over an embankment at 5:30 a. m. today. Hancock County deputies said some $200 damage occurred to his 1954 auto.

Woman Victim 'Fair'

Public Aid Asked For Beating Clue

Hancock County sheriff's deputies today appealed for public assistance in furnishing a clue to the identity of a young, masked prowler who surprised a Chester woman in her apartment early Friday morning and gave her a severe beating.

Wearing a white mask and white gloves, the prowler — armed with a jacknife and a pistol — mauled Miss Peggy Stoltz, 21, about 1:30 a. m. yesterday in her apartment at 500 Carolina Ave., Chester.

MISS STOLTZ is in "fair" condition today in City Hospital with multiple scalp lacerations and abrasions and contusions of the face and neck and still is suffering from shock, deputies said.

The prowler, who was wearing blue dungarees and a blue work shirt, apparently entered the apartment through a rear window and waited until she had emerged from a shower before the attack.

Miss Stoltz told deputies she opened the bathroom door and was threatened, "'I'll kill you, I want to ask you something'," by the medium-built man who then put a knife at her throat.

"What do you want?" Miss Stoltz asked but the prowler then proceeded to beat her about the mouth and face with his fists, deputies said.

AFTER A BRIEF scuffle, Miss Stoltz managed to grab the knife then threw it under a small heater. But the assailant then grabbed her by the hair, threw her on the bed, warning, "'This is it!'" according to the girl's story.

He then beat her over the head with the butt of a long-barreled, dark pistol. The victim's screams aroused a neighbor and the prowler fled.

While fleeting through a rear window, the prowler was discovered by Jack Boyd who lives in the adjoining apartment. Boyd twice smashed the intruder on the head with a soft drink bottle, but the prowler flashed his gun and Boyd fled. One shot was heard by residents in the area, but whether it was fired at Boyd has not been determined.

DEPUTIES described the prowler as between 5-foot-6 and 5-foot-8, not over 30. He had a bruised forehead and possibly cuts on the right side of his head and he also may have received scratches on his right hand and arm.

Welcoming Program Set

New Teachers Will Tour Scenic, Civic High Spots

New teachers in the East Liverpool and Beaver Local school systems will be taken on an auto caravan tour Monday to show them the district scenic, industrial and civic highlights as part of a welcoming program arranged by the Chamber of Commerce and the Teachers Association.

The tour will begin at 11 a. m. from Westgate School after teachers in the two systems wind up separate meetings preparing for the opening of the 1959-60 term Tuesday. The caravan will complete its circuit through the district in time to take the teachers to the Travelers Hotel for a luncheon and welcoming program.

A "coffee hour" will conclude the general East Liverpool teachers' meeting at Westgate. Members of the public education committee and other members of the Chamber will help serve the coffee.

At 10:30 a. m., a group of autos will arrive at Beaver Local to pick up the new teachers in that system, taking them to Westgate for the beginning of the tour.

Cars and drivers for the area swing will be furnished by the East Liverpool Auto Dealers Association. It is the second year of the program to welcome new teachers in the two systems. The first, staged before the opening of the 1958-59 term, also included a tour and a luncheon.

Leaving Westgate, the caravan will move along W. 8th St. to W. 6th St. and then via Monroe to W. 5th to pass City Hospital. Crossing the Newell Bridge, it will turn upstream to give the newcomers a view of the river and East Liverpool from the Chester - Newell Rd.

In Chester, the caravan will turn onto 1st St. and cross the Chester Bridge, proceeding up Broadway to pass the high school, Carnegie Public Library and Post Office. It will proceed via St. Clair Ave. and McKinnon Ave. to Smithfield St. for a halt to take a

Reds Will Ban Nuclear Tests If West Does

Hope This Will Be Forever, Official Announcement Says

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has agreed to hold off testing nuclear weapons just as long as the Western powers do and said it hopes this will be forever.

The Soviets responded to the U.S. and British announcements this week extending the Western ban on nuclear tests at least for the rest of the year.

The Soviet government has made official a pledge given Aug. 10 by Premier Nikita Khrushchev. He told a British clergyman in a letter then that the Soviets were "ready to accept the most solemn obligations not to be the first to conduct any further tests of nuclear weapons."

But the Soviets' statement Friday night emphasized that they would be "free from this pledge" if any Western powers carry out weapons tests.

France is hurrying to join the nuclear club—now exclusively the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union—and making plans for tests in the Sahara Desert.

The French have not disclosed their timetable for the tests. The wording of the Soviet statement indicates Moscow would regard French explosions as a release from its own moratorium.

The United States, Britain and Soviet Union have been haggling for almost 10 months in Geneva over a treaty for a permanent ban.

Blacktopping Contract Prepared For Chester

Chester Solicitor William E. Conklin said today he is preparing a contract with the River Asphalt Co. of Newell for a $12,307 street improvement program. The community has been holding up the project for lack of funds.

Financial arrangements for payment are being worked out with the contract. The project will be paid in installments.

The Newell contractor submitted the lowest bid to Council earlier this month. The project calls for the sealcoating of 16 blocks of streets and the blacktopping of Fairview and Lawrenceville Rds.

Patching of Fairview Rd. and Fairview St. started Friday in preparation for the blacktop. Work was being done today on the Lawrenceville Rd.

6 Negro Agents Hit Vets' Social Club

Two waitresses at an East End club, arrested early this morning by State Liquor Control agents, were given the minimum fine at hearings today in Municipal Court on charges of sale of malt liquor to non-members.

Six Negro agents made the arrests at the Veterans Social Club, 1044 Pennsylvania Ave., at 1:20 a. m.

Cited were Ruth Mosley, 1024 St. George St., and Barbara Foster, 311 Riverside Ave., Wellsville. The charges were signed by Otis Green, one of the raiders.

Both women pleaded guilty before Judge George Brokaw, who pointed out the charge carries a fine of $25 to $1,000. He said he was levying the minimum as it was the first offense of each.

They had posted $50 bonds each for appearance in court this morning.

Greer charged the Mosley woman with the sale of two bottles of beer and the other with the sale of one bottle.

The club is owned by Samuel Johnson.

Steel Walkout Drawing Near To 50th Day

Talks To Resume Wednesday; Both Sides Standing Pat

NEW YORK (AP)—When negotiations resume Wednesday, the nationwide steel strike will be 50 days old, without a sign of a settlement in sight.

Both sides appeared to be standing pat.

Meanwhile most of the 28,000 steelworkers idled in New York State become eligible next week for $45 a week in state unemployment benefits.

New York is the only major industrial state where state unemployment benefits are available to strikers. Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois laws bar them from state benefits. In New York, benefits start after a walkout has lasted seven weeks.

Some railroad executives and white collar employes have received pay cuts as a result of the strike.

The Pennsylvania Railroad announced that salaries of all non-union employes earning $10,000 a year or more will be cut 10 per cent and employes earning between $7,200 and $10,000 face a five per cent cut, effective Tuesday.

The union says it does not now have a specific demand on the bargaining table, but is seeking a "substantial" wage increase. Pre-strike wages averaged $3.11 an hour.

The steel companies oppose any increase in labor costs, on the ground that it would spur inflation.

The strike, now in its 46th day, has idled half a million steelworkers and shut down 90 per cent of the nation's steel production.

The assistant Senate Republican leader, Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California, also was critical. He said he regretted the veto because the bill "includes funds for numerous highly important and indispensable federal projects in California."

The measure, sometimes called the "pork barrel bill" by critics, provides money for projects to curb floods, improve navigation, produce power, keep up beaches, and reclaim arid land.

After differences were worked out in conference this session, the Senate passed the bill 82-9 and the House by voice vote. The original version had been approved by a 380-20 vote in the House before it went to conference.

Woman Victim 'Fair'

Public Aid Asked For Beating Clue

Hancock County sheriff's deputies today appealed for public assistance in furnishing a clue to the identity of a young, masked prowler who surprised a Chester woman in her apartment early Friday morning and gave her a severe beating.

Wearing a white mask and white gloves, the prowler — armed with a jacknife and a pistol — mauled Miss Peggy Stoltz, 21, about 1:30 a. m. yesterday in her apartment at 500 Carolina Ave., Chester.

MISS STOLTZ is in "fair" condition today in City Hospital with multiple scalp lacerations and abrasions and contusions of the face and neck and still is suffering from shock, deputies said.

The prowler, who was wearing blue dungarees and a blue work shirt, apparently entered the apartment through a rear window and waited until she had emerged from a shower before the attack.

Miss Stoltz told deputies she opened the bathroom door and was threatened, "'I'll kill you, I want to ask you something'," by the medium-built man who then put a knife at her throat.

"What do you want?" Miss Stoltz asked but the prowler then proceeded to beat her about the mouth and face with his fists, deputies said.

AFTER A BRIEF scuffle, Miss Stoltz managed to grab the knife then threw it under a small heater. But the assailant then grabbed her by the hair, threw her on the bed, warning, "'This is it!'" according to the girl's story.

He then beat her over the head with the butt of a long-barreled, dark pistol. The victim's screams aroused a neighbor and the prowler fled.

While fleeting through a rear window, the prowler was discovered by Jack Boyd who lives in the adjoining apartment. Boyd twice smashed the intruder on the head with a soft drink bottle, but the prowler flashed his gun and Boyd fled. One shot was heard by residents in the area, but whether it was fired at Boyd has not been determined.

DEPUTIES described the prowler as between 5-foot-6 and 5-foot-8, not over 30. He had a bruised forehead and possibly cuts on the right side of his head and he also may have received scratches on his right hand and arm.

Welcoming Program Set

New Teachers Will Tour Scenic, Civic High Spots

New teachers in the East Liverpool and Beaver Local school systems will be taken on an auto caravan tour Monday to show them the district scenic, industrial and civic highlights as part of a welcoming program arranged by the Chamber of Commerce and the Teachers Association.

The tour will begin at 11 a. m. from Westgate School after teachers in the two systems wind up separate meetings preparing for the opening of the 1959-60 term Tuesday. The caravan will complete its circuit through the district in time to take the teachers to the Travelers Hotel for a luncheon and welcoming program.

A "coffee hour" will conclude the general East Liverpool teachers' meeting at Westgate. Members of the public education committee and other members of the Chamber will help serve the coffee.

At 10:30 a. m., a group of autos will arrive at Beaver Local to pick up the new teachers in that system, taking them to Westgate for the beginning of the tour.

Cars and drivers for the area swing will be furnished by the East Liverpool Auto Dealers Association. It is the second year of the program to welcome new teachers in the two systems. The first, staged before the opening of the 1958-59 term, also included a tour and a luncheon.

Leaving Westgate, the caravan will move along W. 8th St. to W. 6th St. and then via Monroe to W. 5th to pass City Hospital. Crossing the Newell Bridge, it will turn upstream to give the newcomers a view of the river and East Liverpool from the Chester - Newell Rd.

In Chester, the caravan will turn onto 1st St. and cross the Chester Bridge, proceeding up Broadway to pass the high school, Carnegie Public Library and Post Office. It will proceed via St. Clair Ave. and McKinnon Ave. to Smithfield St. for a halt to take a

Reds Will Ban Nuclear Tests If West Does

Hope This Will Be Forever, Official Announcement Says

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has agreed to hold off testing nuclear weapons just as long as the Western powers do and said it hopes this will be forever.

The Soviets responded to the U.S. and British announcements this week extending the Western ban on nuclear tests at least for the rest of the year.

The Soviet government has made official a pledge given Aug. 10 by Premier Nikita Khrushchev. He told a British clergyman in a letter then that the Soviets were "ready to accept the most solemn obligations not to be the first to conduct any further tests of nuclear weapons."

But the Soviets' statement Friday night emphasized that they would be "free from this pledge" if any Western powers carry out weapons tests.

France is hurrying to join the nuclear club—now exclusively the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union—and making plans for tests in the Sahara Desert.

The French have not disclosed their timetable for the tests. The wording of the Soviet statement indicates Moscow would regard French explosions as a release from its own moratorium.

The United States, Britain and Soviet Union have been haggling for almost 10 months in Geneva over a treaty for a permanent ban.

The Newell contractor submitted the lowest bid to Council earlier this month. The project calls for the sealcoating of 16 blocks of streets and the blacktopping of Fairview and Lawrenceville Rds.

Patching of Fairview Rd. and Fairview St. started Friday in preparation for the blacktop. Work was being done today on the Lawrenceville Rd.

2 Waitresses Fined In Raid

6 Negro Agents Hit Vets' Social Club

Two waitresses at an East End club, arrested early this morning by State Liquor Control agents, were given the minimum fine at hearings today in Municipal Court on charges of sale of malt liquor to non-members.

Six Negro agents made the arrests at the Veterans Social Club, 1044 Pennsylvania Ave., at 1:20 a. m.

Cited were Ruth Mosley, 1024 St. George St., and Barbara Foster, 311 Riverside Ave., Wellsville. The charges were signed by Otis Green, one of the raiders.

Both women pleaded guilty before Judge George Brokaw, who pointed out the charge carries a fine of $25 to $1,000. He said he was levying the minimum as it was the first offense of each.

They had posted $50 bonds each for appearance in court this morning.

Greer charged the Mosley woman with the sale of two bottles of beer and the other with the sale of one bottle.

The club is owned by Samuel Johnson.

Gold Galore -- Want It?

By HOWARD SANDUM

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Mention hard times, and 41-year-old Robert L. Romig's blue eyes twinkle.

But at today's mining costs, he says, "It would take two million to get it out of the ground."

So Romig and hundreds of other gold men like him in the West are biding their time. "In hard times," Romig says, "if I couldn't get a job and if prices descended, I could support myself indefinitely off gold."

Even a stranger can find gold in Idaho — scattered among the bedrock and black sand of Boise National Forest streams, or imbedded in quartz ore.

But it's still too difficult to mine enough to turn a profit.

Gold - seeking visitors could bring new life to the old boom towns that lived and died in the bonanzas of the late 19th Century.

Romig, working two days, illustrated what a typical amateur gold-hunter could do. He went about it much as a fisherman would look for a spot to fish — he asked an old timer to direct him to a likely spot.

From earlier workings a half century ago, little bits of gold had filtered into the surface of bedrock.

Shoveling away the shallow top earth and scraping the time-weathered surface of the bedrock, Romig filled wheelbarrows full of gold-bearing material.

He washed 40 loads of it through an eight-foot-long sluice box, patiently panning out the residue left in the bottom. In two days, from that amount, Romig netted about one-fourth ounce of tiny gold grains, a little pile worth about $9.

President Says Goodbye

By EDDY GILMORE

BALMORAL, Scotland (AP) — President Eisenhower said goodbye to Queen Elizabeth II this morning and begged her to send him some of Princess Anne's cooking.

"Are you going to learn to cook?" the President said as he patted the 9-year-old princess on the head.

She grinned her reply.

"I'll send you some samples," quipped the Queen.

"If you don't," said Ike, "I'll be bombarding you with letters."

Eisenhower said his farewell on the lawn of Balmoral Castle where he spent the night as guest of the Queen and Prince Philip.

The President grinned, but Prince Philip saw nothing funny about the situation.

Ike looked at the dog and the dog looked at him.

"He is really looking things over isn't he?" said Ike.

Still showing his annoyance Prince Philip said:

"He (the dog) is just stupid enough to jump."

Princess Margaret — wearing a pink tartan skirt and looking very beautiful—appeared. She carried a camera and started taking pictures of everything in sight, including the photographers.

Then came the highlight of the morning as the Queen and the President stood together looking into one another's eyes with clasped hands.

For more than a minute they stood — a markedly sincere moment for both of them.

Hawaii's Now Finding Lots Of Uses For Lava

HONOLULU (AP) — Hawaiians owe a lot to their lava. Without it, and the volcanoes that spewed the fearful stuff, there wouldn't be a Hawaii.

Land ravaged by lava flows is being restored to cultivation with a new technique.

Modern buildings in Honolulu are using lava in pillars and facings.

And, one day perhaps, Hawaiian fashions will be made with a Hawaiian material — lava.

Six square miles of farm land on the island of Hawaii were covered by molten lava in the eruption of 1955. It could take decades, in some cases even centuries, for nature to turn the lava into useful farming soil.

But an agricultural expert here, Richard J. Lyman Jr., noticed grass growing along roads built across old lava flows. He decided that breaking up the lava might expose minerals in the rock that can sustain plant life — phosphate and potash.

Experiments have borne out Lyman's theory. A University of Hawaii geologist, Agatin T. Abbott, believes lava-ruined land can be restored to productivity with a good bull-dozing job.

This, says Abbott, "would provide an almost inexhaustible supply of these essential building materials and stop the depletion of beach sands, which is detrimental to the visitor industry."

The most imaginative use of lava — as cloth — seems the most remote. But Abbott, has recommended the idea be studied.

Commercially, the construction industry has bene in the forefront with its use of lava in cement. Tests now under way may also result in grinding lava as a substitute for sand in concrete-making.

How Can I

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I provide a firm hold for a mirror or picture on a plaster wall where there is no stud into which I can drive my nail?

A. Try drilling a hole into the plaster with a twist drill and then filling the hole with some plastic wood, obtainable at your hardware store. After this has hardened overnight, drive your nail into the plastic wood.

Q. How can I prevent a rocking chair from creeping across the room while rocking?

A. Glue the wrong side of strips of velvet on the bottom of the chair rockers, and the annoyance will stop.

Q. When should parsley be transplanted to a pot?

A. It is a good idea to transplant the bed of parsley to a pot while it is still strong and healthy. It will make a nice winter plant for the kitchen window sill and is convenient when a garnish is needed.

Extension Indicated In Newell Brick Pact

While Monday is the deadline for settlement of a contract between the Globe Brick Co. of Newell and Local 647, United Brick and Clay Workers, both sides are expected to agree to an extension until a break is reached in the steel deadlock, it was indicated.

Plant and union officials have been engaged in contract talks since early July but no settlement has been reached today.

Gold Galore -- Want It?

By HOWARD SANDUM

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Mention hard times, and 41-year-old Robert L. Romig's blue eyes twinkle.

But at today's mining costs, he says, "It would take two million to get it out of the ground."

So Romig and hundreds of other gold men like him in the West are biding their time. "In hard times," Romig says, "if I couldn't get a job and if prices descended, I could support myself indefinitely off gold."

Even a stranger can find gold in Idaho — scattered among the bedrock and black sand of Boise National Forest streams, or imbedded in quartz ore.

But it's still too difficult to mine enough to turn a profit.

Gold - seeking visitors could bring new life to the old boom towns that lived and died in the bonanzas of the late 19th Century.

Romig, working two days, illustrated what a typical amateur gold-hunter could do. He went about it much as a fisherman would look for a spot to fish — he asked an old timer to direct him to a likely spot.

From earlier workings a half century ago, little bits of gold had filtered into the surface of bedrock.

Shoveling away the shallow top earth and scraping the time-weathered surface of the bedrock, Romig filled wheelbarrows full of gold-bearing material.

He washed 40 loads of it through an eight-foot-long sluice box, patiently panning out the residue left in the bottom. In two days, from that amount, Romig netted about one-fourth ounce of tiny gold grains, a little pile worth about $9.

President Says Goodbye

By EDDY GILMORE

BALMORAL, Scotland (AP) — President Eisenhower said goodbye to Queen Elizabeth II this morning and begged her to send him some of Princess Anne's cooking.

"Are you going to learn to cook?" the President said as he patted the 9-year-old princess on the head.

She grinned her reply.

"I'll send you some samples," quipped the Queen.

"If you don't," said Ike, "I'll be bombarding you with letters."

Eisenhower said his farewell on the lawn of Balmoral Castle where he spent the night as guest of the Queen and Prince Philip.

The President grinned, but Prince Philip saw nothing funny about the situation.

Ike looked at the dog and the dog looked at him.

"He is really looking things over isn't he?" said Ike.

Still showing his annoyance Prince Philip said:

"He (the dog) is just stupid enough to jump."

Princess Margaret — wearing a pink tartan skirt and looking very beautiful—appeared. She carried a camera and started taking pictures of everything in sight, including the photographers.

Then came the highlight of the morning as the Queen and the President stood together looking into one another's eyes with clasped hands.

For more than a minute they stood — a markedly sincere moment for both of them.

Hawaii's Now Finding Lots Of Uses For Lava

HONOLULU (AP) — Hawaiians owe a lot to their lava. Without it, and the volcanoes that spewed the fearful stuff, there wouldn't be a Hawaii.

Land ravaged by lava flows is being restored to cultivation with a new technique.

The construction industry is using lava for building block and as an ingredient in cement.

Modern buildings in Honolulu are using lava in pillars and facings.

And, one day perhaps, Hawaiian fashions will be made with a Hawaiian material — lava.

Six square miles of farm land on the island of Hawaii were covered by molten lava in the eruption of 1955. It could take decades, in some cases even centuries, for nature to turn the lava into useful farming soil.

But an agricultural expert here, Richard J. Lyman Jr., noticed grass growing along roads built across old lava flows. He decided that breaking up the lava might expose minerals in the rock that can sustain plant life — phosphate and potash.

Experiments have borne out Lyman's theory. A University of Hawaii geologist, Agatin T. Abbott, believes lava-ruined land can be restored to productivity with a good bull-dozing job.

This, says Abbott, "would provide an almost inexhaustible supply of these essential building materials and stop the depletion of beach sands, which is detrimental to the visitor industry."

The most imaginative use of lava — as cloth — seems the most remote. But Abbott, has recommended the idea be studied.

Commercially, the construction industry has bene in the forefront with its use of lava in cement. Tests now under way may also result in grinding lava as a substitute for sand in concrete-making.

How Can I

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I provide a firm hold for a mirror or picture on a plaster wall where there is no stud into which I can drive my nail?

A. Try drilling a hole into the plaster with a twist drill and then filling the hole with some plastic wood, obtainable at your hardware store. After this has hardened overnight, drive your nail into the plastic wood.

Q. How can I prevent a rocking chair from creeping across the room while rocking?

A. Glue the wrong side of strips of velvet on the bottom of the chair rockers, and the annoyance will stop.

Q. When should parsley be transplanted to a pot?

A. It is a good idea to transplant the bed of parsley to a pot while it is still strong and healthy. It will make a nice winter plant for the kitchen window sill and is convenient when a garnish is needed.

Extension Indicated In Newell Brick Pact

While Monday is the deadline for settlement of a contract between the Globe Brick Co. of Newell and Local 647, United Brick and Clay Workers, both sides are expected to agree to an extension until a break is reached in the steel deadlock, it was indicated.

Plant and union officials have been engaged in contract talks since early July but no settlement has been reached today.

More Globe Trotting Urged Of Presidents

LONDON (AP)—A British newspaper suggested today it was time American presidents broke with tradition and did a little more globe trotting.

"President Eisenhower's royal reception by London crowds is a belated reminder of what a spellbindingly popular personality the free world has had at its head for the past seven years."

Labor Bill

enth and final title covering Taft-Hartley law changes. Even here, several points have been settled.

The two bills were quite similar in the first six titles, with the Senate bill more stringent in some respects and the House in others. But the House version is much broader on the Taft-Hartley amendments, containing several strongly opposed by unions.

These are the points involved in controversy:

No man's land—

An area of labor disputes in which the National Labor Relations Board will not handle the cases and the states are prevented from doing so by court decisions.

The House bill permits the states to decide under the varying state laws all cases the NLRB declines to take. The Senate bill allows state agencies to handle them but only under federal law.

The Kennedy resolution would permit adoption of the House language but prevent the NLRB from ceding to the states any classes of cases it now accepts.

Secondary boycotts—

Boycotts through which a union seeks to put pressure on an employer with whom it has a dispute through action against a neutral third party.

The House bill would ban all types of these. The Senate bill had no such provision.

The Kennedy resolution accepts the general principle of the House bill but contains provisos designed to protect the right of unions to get at subcontractors in the garment industry and on construction sites, to refuse to handle struck goods, and to engage in primary picketing against the employer involved in dispute.

Organizational picketing—

The Senate bill bans this when another union has been certified for nine months after an election lost by the union. The House bill lengthens the nine months to 12, and adds these bans:

When a union cannot prove it has the support of 30 per cent of the employes, or after 30 days unless the union has filed an election petition.

The Kennedy resolution would strike out the last two items but would provide that an election can be forced quickly if the union is using the picket line to stop deliveries.

Lama's Brother Asks Free World To Support Tibet

MANILA (AP) — A younger brother of the Dalai Lama called on the free countries of the world today to support the Tibetan people in their national independence movement.

Gyalo Thondup, 31, who says he is the Dalai Lama's foreign relations adviser, described his country's situation as difficult.

Thondup praised India for its "tremendous support" of the Tibetan struggle against the Communist Chinese. But he said it was difficult for the Indian government to do more than it already is doing.

"That is why we are hoping other governments will give all-out support to our cause," he said.

By support, Thondup said he meant moral, financial and any other kind the free countries think they can give.

Beating

Deputies said one suspect is being questioned after a tip at 2 a. m. today that a man answering the description was seen in a truck stop in Port Homer.

One deputy working on the case commented that "it looked like a plain murder attempt as the prowler never tried to molest Miss Stoltz and her pocketbook, with money in it was left open on a dresser."

ONE POSSIBLE lead, the deputy said, is that the intruder may be employed at a service station as grease was found on the victim's hands. Deputies followed a trail of blood, apparently from the bottle blows on the head, but the bloodstains disappeared at Florida Ave., indicating the intruder escaped in an auto.

Miss Stoltz told deputies she smelled no alcohol on the intruder and deputies have discounted the theory it was an escapade of a drunk.

Pumping Of Water Sets Palestine Mark

EAST PALESTINE — An all-time high of 1,819,000 gallons of water was pumped by the city Monday, Elmer Dishong, safety-service director, announced.

The previous high was Aug. 17, 1957, with 1,558,000 gallons. The daily average is 1 million gallons.

He attributed the increase as a result of Monday being wash day and the day that the city pool is cleaned and to hot weather.

The balloon made an abortive ascension Wednesday when fired with butane gas burners and wind prevented a try Thursday. He will make another jump this evening if conditions are favorable.

More Globe Trotting Urged Of Presidents

LONDON (AP)—A British newspaper suggested today it was time American presidents broke with tradition and did a little more globe trotting.

America's allies have a right to see more of the man who held their destinies in his hands, declared the London Daily Telegraph.

"President Eisenhower's royal reception by London crowds is a belated reminder of what a spellbindingly popular personality the free world has had at its head for the past seven years."

Labor Bill

enth and final title covering Taft-Hartley law changes. Even here, several points have been settled.

The two bills were quite similar in the first six titles, with the Senate bill more stringent in some respects and the House in others. But the House version is much broader on the Taft-Hartley amendments, containing several strongly opposed by unions.

These are the points involved in controversy:

No man's land—

An area of labor disputes in which the National Labor Relations Board will not handle the cases and the states are prevented from doing so by court decisions.

The House bill permits the states to decide under the varying state laws all cases the NLRB declines to take. The Senate bill allows state agencies to handle them but only under federal law.

The Kennedy resolution would permit adoption of the House language but prevent the NLRB from ceding to the states any classes of cases it now accepts.

Secondary boycotts—

Boycotts through which a union seeks to put pressure on an employer with whom it has a dispute through action against a neutral third party.

The House bill would ban all types of these. The Senate bill had no such provision.

The Kennedy resolution accepts the general principle of the House bill but contains provisos designed to protect the right of unions to get at subcontractors in the garment industry and on construction sites, to refuse to handle struck goods, and to engage in primary picketing against the employer involved in dispute.

Organizational picketing—

The Senate bill bans this when another union has been certified for nine months after an election lost by the union. The House bill lengthens the nine months to 12, and adds these bans:

When a union cannot prove it has the support of 30 per cent of the employes, or after 30 days unless the union has filed an election petition.

The Kennedy resolution would strike out the last two items but would provide that an election can be forced quickly if the union is using the picket line to stop deliveries.

Lama's Brother Asks Free World To Support Tibet

MANILA (AP) — A younger brother of the Dalai Lama called on the free countries of the world today to support the Tibetan people in their national independence movement.

Gyalo Thondup, 31, who says he is the Dalai Lama's foreign relations adviser, described his country's situation as difficult.

Thondup praised India for its "tremendous support" of the Tibetan struggle against the Communist Chinese. But he said it was difficult for the Indian government to do more than it already is doing.

"That is why we are hoping other governments will give all-out support to our cause," he said.

By support, Thondup said he meant moral, financial and any other kind the free countries think they can give.

Proceeding, the caravan will travel via Smithfield St., Orchard Grove Ave., Jennings Ave. and St. Clair Ave. to Park Blvd., around the road loop in Thompson Park and past the Municipal Swimming Pool to Dixonville. The drivers will drop off the teachers at the hotel, then park their cars on the lot at Memorial Auditorium. Following the luncheon, the teachers will be returned to their school buildings.

There are 32 new teachers in the two systems — 15 in East Liverpool and 17 in Beaver Local.

The public education and public relations committees are in charge of the Chamber's phase of the program. Members include Edwin Maloney, Ralph W. Betts, Eugene Hall, James Locke, John McLaren, Alvin Babb and Bert Wakefield, with Austen Moore representing the Teachers Association.

Beating

Deputies said one suspect is being questioned after a tip at 2 a. m. today that a man answering the description was seen in a truck stop in Port Homer.

One deputy working on the case commented that "it looked like a plain murder attempt as the prowler never tried to molest Miss Stoltz and her pocketbook, with money in it was left open on a dresser."

ONE POSSIBLE lead, the deputy said, is that the intruder may be employed at a service station as grease was found on the victim's hands. Deputies followed a trail of blood, apparently from the bottle blows on the head, but the bloodstains disappeared at Florida Ave., indicating the intruder escaped in an auto.

Miss Stoltz told deputies she smelled no alcohol on the intruder and deputies have discounted the theory it was an escapade of a drunk.

Pumping Of Water Sets Palestine Mark

EAST PALESTINE — An all-time high of 1,819,000 gallons of water was pumped by the city Monday, Elmer Dishong, safety-service director, announced.

The previous high was Aug. 17, 1957, with 1,558,000 gallons. The daily average is 1 million gallons.

He attributed the increase as a result of Monday being wash day and the day that the city pool is cleaned and to hot weather.

Wife Takes Husband's Advice And Hits Bus

Fight Injuries Fatal

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Lawrence Eberly, 68, died in Akron City Hospital Friday night an hour after he was admitted following an apartment house fight. Police said he was taken to the hospital unconscious after he fought with Irvan White, 46, a resident of the apartment house. White is held without charge while the coroner's office determines the cause of Eberly's death.

Our Best Man Is On The Job

If some of us had forgotten what Dwight Eisenhower means to millions of Europeans, his reception abroad should set us to thinking about him.

The petty politics and nagging mishaps that sometimes have made him give the appearance of resenting his role in the White House were shucked off like an overcoat when he left the United States.

He is still regarded abroad as he was regarded at the climax of World War II and in the years that followed when he was the symbol of Europe's collective security.

Hecklers who have wondered if he was up to meeting the challenge of Nikita Khrushchev's blunt dialectics in a summit conference forgot what even the President's admirers had neglected to remember.

No other individual on earth can match the magnetic appeal of this wartime hero with the infectious grin, the ready word, the great ability to persuade people to get along with one another and the palpable devotion to the freedom and dignity of man. He is the "Great Persuader" of his era.

IN THE PUSH to make Premier Khrushchev seem to be the most powerful individual in the world — so powerful he can turn on revolution and disorder like water flowing from a tap—it has been overlooked that no one has matched Dwight Eisenhower's personal influence.

Whatever part of it may have been eroded in this country by political friction is insignificent compared with the massive remainder. This has been proved true to the consternation of some of the most tireless eroders.

We have our best man on the job in the summit showdown that could ease the tensions of mid-century in competition between the United States and the Soviet Union.

This is as much or more a contest for favorable opinion than a skirmish among legalists, which is what it seemed to be while the late John Foster Dulles was representing the United States. With due respect to Christian Herter, President Eisenhower is now what he never had tried to be while Mr. Dulles was at the head of the Department of State — a commanding personality, ready and willing to do everything in his personal power to win a battle of international opinion.

This is what he has said he believes to be his highest and ultimate mission in the presidency. He always has conceived his great role in public life to be that of a soldier turned peacemaker — a warrior with a sword beaten into a plowshare.

HE IS NOT ASHAMED to be looking for a formula that might lift some of the crushing burden of armament from the American people.

He obviously has reason to believe that Premier Khrushchev may be looking for a formula to do the same thing for the people of Russia.

If the two of them could find the terms of an agreement on that point of mutual concern, the world would be transformed. The armament race could slow down. Some of the wealth that must be poured into security could be diverted to more useful purposes.

This would not mean that either side had relented in the slightest degree from its basic position. It would not mean that any wrongdoing had been overlooked or condoned by Mr. Eisenhower. It would mean simply that the earth's two most powerful neighbors in the mid-20th century had found a way to compete without expending their energy on excessive armament.

It would not be peace, but it would be something better than the cold war which has kept the world in a state of tension ever since the end of the hot war in 1946.

A Blow For Freedom In Ohio

Printers' Ink, weekly magazine of advertising and marketing, says Ohio's right-to-advertise law that goes into effect Nov. 2 is likely to set off campaigns to pass similar laws in other states. A blow for freedom has been struck.

The significance of the Ohio law, which prevents any state agency or board with licensing powers from setting up regulations to control advertising, is the fact it was the first blow in a cause that was thought to be hopeless. Politicians had closed minds, it was believed.

If resistance can be overcome in one state, it can be overcome in all states. The Ohio pattern will be studied closely for use by other advertising people when the time comes to join the issue.

Two significant details are being noted.

1. The Ohio proposal had the support of Gov. DiSalle.

2. When it came to a vote, there was no doubt of its passage. It was adopted unanimously by the Ohio Senate and with only two dissenting votes by the House of Representatives. A close note would have been more defeat than victory.

The groundwork had been taken care of thoroughly. Once the legislators had been given the correct information — that this was a proposal to limit public restrictions on advertising to truth and decency—nothing else the question was an open-and-shut decision.

No legislator anywhere is going to stand up and be counted in public against a proposal to unshackle free enterprise from unreasonable political control. In private, perhaps, but not in public.

There Are Times When You Wonder

School will start again in a few days, and thoughts will turn to the millions of pupils who will be returning to their teachers.

Photographers will take pictures of typical scenes in this greatest of all mass movements. Stories will be written about the beginning of another school year, and there will be the customary worrying about whether the United States is ahead of, abreast of, or behind Russia in educational technique.

All this will be well and good. It will be inevitable. But you wonder sometimes if people don't get into a rut about these things and fail to take note of more important things.

For instance, in many families there currently is a homecoming of children who have spent the vacation months at summer camps at their families' expense — and is it not curious that more is paid out cheerfully for this short-term interlude than is paid out grudgingly in taxes for the long-term school year?

Or, to choose another often - overlooked circumstance, is it not odd that no one thanks the little paid members of school boards who make public education possible? In Little Rock, Ark., board members not only must take verbal abuse but are subject to business boycotts and physical violence if they stand up to the bully-boys. During the board's most recent meeting, the bully-boys were two white women who threw tear gas bombs, presumably to protest Little Rock's mild gestures of token integration.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Nothing brands this the screwiest of ages more than teachers, lawyers, school boards and civil liberties groups hurrying through streets, blocked by juvenile gang "rumbles," on their way to hassle over whether nondenominational prayer in public schools is good for kids.

Above the shootings, screams and howl of squad cars it wasn't easy to hear the New York State Supreme Court decision that a 22 word prayer in opening school sessions would not violate the Constitution, if speedy and non-compulsory.

But even as the misguided moppets slash, shoot, main and kill in a serious juvenile crime wave, the opponents, of a few words with God in the course of child-education, brush off daily scenes of boy-and-girl jungle paganism as they carry the fight against prayer to higher courts.

What's all the fuss about? This "quicky" supplication:

"Almighty God, we acknowledge our dependence on Thee and we beg Thy blessings upon us, our parents, our teachers and our country."

IMAGINE ANY CHILD, regardless of faith, creed or denomination, being hurt by this simple profession of belief in a divine being! Fancy legalistic quibblings which seem to substitute "Oh, schoolroom, schoolboards, teachers and courts, we beseech thee to guard against anything that can put tenderness, love and a scorn for violence in the heart of a child. We beg you all to fight the touch of faith that might save children from pagan patterns of viciousness leading them hell bent to prison and perhaps the chair."

Latest court decision is wishy-washy. It says school boards may allow, but not require the brief prayer and that children who do not wish to pray may COME LATE TO CLASS!

The Power Of Faith

By Howard Brodie

I thumbed the pages of an entertainment guide in my Tulsa hotel room during a recent U. S. trip, glancing at advertisements for such attractions as man-sized steaks, exotic dancing, and reducing salons. And then I read, "Dial a Prayer, Luther 4-3511." I dialed and heard "Light of my life, teach me to live by the inner illumination of spirit . . ."

I traced the recording to the First Presbyterian Church but learned that the idea had come from California by way of Scarsdale, N. Y., and that it has spread to more and more cities. As many as 3,000 calls for prayers were received by the Scarsdale number in a day, I was informed, and on weekends the circuits rang busy as often as 10,000 times. Calls come from business men about to enter important conferences, from doctors after exhausting operations, from the lonely, distraught, sick and bereaved. All seek strength through faith.

12 Dead Men Are Forgotten In A Hurry

By Victor Riesel

For months now the swirling Susquehanna River has drowned out the sobs of the widows of 12 men drowned by those gushing waters in a creaky Pennsylvania mine. For months the tears of the widows, though in torrents, have not etched themselves on the conscience of a busy land.

Victor Riesel

Those 12 men died on the morning of Jan. 22. The river, in rage, had torn through the thin earth crust of the Knox Coal Co. River Slope Mine under Pittston, an area trod by many a Mafia man.

Four months later, on May 19, a federal jury convicted a Mafia power, Nick Alaimo, on 34 counts of taking $30,755.21 from the president and acting general manager of that mining company. Alaimo had muscled his way into becoming a committeeman for the Mine Union's Local 8005 at the Knox pit.

DEVOTION to his duties did not absorb enough of his time to keep him from being a delegate to the Apalachin crime convention. No one quite knows where Alaimo was on the January morning when the flooded Susquehanna River ripped into the mine.

Not only were 12 hewers of coal drowned but pits employing several thousand other miners were wiped out, thus washing away an annual payroll of seven million dollars.

For months the Pennsylvania State Legislature probed the plunge of the Susquehanna through the roof of that coal lined mausoleum. Now a mining expert has analyzed the probers' 107-page report of that disaster.

Most significant passage is this: "Of all the causes leading to the disaster of the River Slope Mine, the lack of any design or checking by professional mining engineers was a paramount contribution."

It is shown that someone gave orders for the miners to dig "off-course chambers." The miners who went down the pits that morning did not know they were digging under the river.

There was something wrong with the map of the diggings. A state mine inspector testified that the map he was given "can be called a fairy tale."

Another state inspector said that if he is not furnished with an accurate map, he cannot properly inspect.

This official, David W. Cosslett, asserted that if he had known that two chambers were driven 260 feet beyond the red line under the river, which was at the high level mark, he would have stopped the operation as being dangerous.

SOME OF THE MINERS who escaped the waters which drowned their brethren testified that they had not heard of a safety committee.

A mine safety committee would have noticed that there were no signs marking the exits; that the off-course chambers were under the river; that they never received or were shown a map; that pillar were hacked into; that there was too much water in the pit and that some had to work in raincoats.

The report states on page 55 that one witness, a coal digger, testified that "neither he nor the other men complained about conditions in the mine, or their salary, because of the threat of losing their job."

All this led the probers to state: "It is the opinion of this committee that a combination of contributing factors including, but not limited to, indifference and apathy on the part of the lessor concerning the mode of extracting coal, incompetence on the part of supervisory employes of the lessee, an incentive pay system resulting in the miners . . . conducting mining operations without sufficient regard for their own safety or position; a lack of qualified professional mining engineers and-or consultants."

And 12 men, who once walked abroad in the sunlight, now are part of the coal rock from which they hacked their daily bread. No one seems to care except those whose sobs are drowned out by swirling waters.

Beatniks Under Glass

SAN FRANCISCO

Just how beat are beatniks?

To find out a team of three psychiatrists is making a nocturnal study—the first of its kind—of the inhabitants of San Francisco's Beatnikland. Some 160 beatniks have colonized on Telegraph Hill here and earned the reputation of being about as "far out" as a beat can get.

One member of the team, Dr. Francis J. Rigney, a Veterans' Administration staff psychiatrist, already has spent more than 100 nights in Beatnikland on the project. He has interviewed subjects at beatnik parties, hangouts and "pads" (apartments) and administered a battery of psychological tests.

Once he gained their confidence, the beatniks obligingly bared their inner selves — taking the Rorschach, Thematic Apperception Test, Minnesota Multiphasic Personality Inventory and the California Inventory.

The beatniks, who seem as interested in the results as the psychiatrists, now refer to Rigney as their "Margaret Mead in Drag" (Men's clothes).

Other team members, Dr. Douglas Smith, U.S. Public Health Service, and Dr. Joseph Solomon, University of California Medical Center, are working with Rigney on evaluating the material.

While the study is still incomplete, they report a few conclusions are already apparent.

First the beatniks have suffered from a bad press. Instead of being the unsavory byproduct of unique modernday social pressures, the study showed they are comparable to the Bohemians who populate the "art colonies" of any generation.

Second, the beatnik's problems of adjustment were the same as those of the ordinary solid citizen —only more prolonged and exaggerated.

Third, occupations were divided about one-third writers, one-fourth painters and the balance musicians, actors, dancers and so forth. About two - thirds had earned money in their chosen field.

Fourth. Educationwise beatniks averaged a little more than two years of college.

Fifth, men beatniks outnumbered women 3-1.

Sixth, beatniks who drank—some were teetotalers — preferred beer or wine, because it was cheaper than whisky.

Demonstration Of Trust

By David Lawrence

Free People Offer Lesson To Iron Curtain

The cheers of the people of western Europe for President Eisenhower—exuberant and affectionate —are a reminder of the historic friendship between the United States and its allies. But the demonstrations signify even more — how free peoples trust one another. This is something that peoples behind the iron curtain might well examine, for it contains the very ingredients of international understanding that someday could apply its benefits to the whole world.

David Lawrence

In the personality of Dwight Eisenhower — a man of military background in the past but today a symbol of peace — the world sees a missionary seeking, by good will and a spirit of conciliation, to overcome the petty, narrow and self-centered policies of men in government that sometimes keep nations apart.

It is an open secret that Mr. Eisenhower is in western Europe this week as much to bind up the wounds of a strained governmental alliance with France as he is to prepare for the days next month in which he will represent the West in talks with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

DWIGHT EISENHOWER is popular in Europe as a man. But this is not simply because of his genial personality and innate friendliness. It is because of his record — he commanded the very forces that saved Britain and France 15 years ago. His acceptance by the people of West Germany is due largely to the fact that Gen. Eisenhower dealt with his defeated foes on a basis of decency and fairness.

Above all, President Eisenhower typifies the American spirit — the desire to see a nation like West Germany, which has repudiated Nazism and established a government of free institutions, preserve its independence and become reunited with their kinsmen in East Germany.

Every American president usually speaks in foreign affairs on behalf of the American people — there is less and less partisanship nowadays on such matters. Hence, a president of the United States, by a personal visit to countries allied with us, can accomplish a good deal to strengthen the ties with them.

Whatever may have been the original reasons that seemed to make it desirable for President Eisenhower to go overseas, the truth is that such a visit is constructively helpful in the long run and tends to promote a spirit of mutual concession in resolving differences.

Everybody knows that President De Gaulle is trying somehow to increase the prestige of France and his hold on his own country. He has several crucial points to discuss with Mr. Eisenhower, involving, of course, the plight of Algeria.

THE PRINCIPLE of American non-intervention in disputes inside other countries is well recognized everywhere but at the same time the yearning of colonial peoples for independence also strikes a sympathetic note in the United States.

Certainly the most important consideration is what will benefit a dependent people. To give them immediate independence is not always in their own best interest. Gradualism is a better approach, because economic disintegration and consequent suffering for the masses often follows too sudden a change in the governmental structure.

Indonesia, for example, has its independence today but is worse off than at any time since its people benefited by the enlightened colonialism of the Dutch government.

Mr. Eisenhower doesn't go to France as a mediator on the Algerian problem but to emphasize that Allied unity, especially in defense matters, is far more important than any other single factor in the internal situtaion confronting France.

To keep NATO planes from using bases inside France because the United States wouldn't grant information on nuclear weapons is petty tactics for any Frenchman to be practicing in these critical days.

After all, the United States has twice had to come to the rescue of France in world war crises and it would be a disservice to the people of France if, in this missile and atomic age, the weapons of war by which American planes could help stave off any attack on France were suddenly found lacking.

SURELY QUESTIONS like these, on sober second thought, will have to be handled with more tact in the future than they have been in the past, lest confidence in Gen. De Gaulle himself is weakened in America.

So far as relations with Britain are concerned, there is complete understanding and harmony. Mr. Eisenhower's visit to Bonn will reassure the West Germans that they are not to become the victims of a "deal" over West Berlin.

Entirely apart from the specific issues that must be dealt with by President Eisenhower on his mission to Bonn, London and Paris, it is heartening to see the western European peoples by their demonstrations showing the friendship they cherish for the people of America.

Maybe as Nikita Khrushchev examines the press reports, he will be a bit envious. If he could but understand it, peoples make heroes out of leaders who love humanity and freedom and show their disdain only for those who do not grasp the meaning of human love or its corollary — human freedom.

Letters To The Editor

When we moved into Beechwood four years ago, we did so knowing full well that a sanitary sewer was due to be put in any time.

Now that it has been started, I am sure that all the residents are as pleased as I that the thought of septic tank odors are soon to be ended.

We live on Center St., which is a dead end on the East End side, thus leaving us only one way out. When they began to dig they opened a little used alley and bluntly refused to open two other means of exit.

We repeatedly have called the city officials and they have said such things as "I have no authority . . .", "Call so and so . . .", "You must put up with a little inconvenience, you know . . ."

I wonder what they call dirt piled up five to six feet in front of your door or a 14-foot ditch down the middle of the road? To say nothing of the incessant grinding of those huge machines.

We sincerely pray that there will be no cause to call the fire department or ambulance for the next week or so for they couldn't possibly get in. But no one seems to believe that possibility. They ask, 'Will it hurt you to walk?'

I wonder how our mayor or safety service director would enjoy walking along these dark, dirt roads. It is a good four blocks to the highway, with only two street lights. Our teen-agers have as much right to be safe and enjoy themselves as anyone else.

The city engineer told me that this one alley will be passable after the sewer is put in. If they plan to open it eventually, why not now when we need it?

MRS. NORMAN J. AIKENS

I am writing this letter to you to see if you will print it as a letter of protest against the IBOP in building our new hall 7 miles out of town.

I think it is going against the wishes of all the members of all the locals to go ahead and build the new hall that far out of town. I think we should have a vote on it. If the vote carries to build out of town, then I would say it was done right. I want to see if anyone has the nerve to protest as I have. I want to know why we can't build in town. I don't think we should hide it that far out of town. People might not find it.

So come on all you pottery workers. Show them you can protest too.

Bridgework

The city of Paris has more than 30 bridges to link its famous divisions — the Right Bank and the left Bank.

Busy people may regard the bridges merely as a way to get across the Seine River. But to the down-and-out, they give shelter. To painters, they offer beauty. To lovers, they provide a romantic setting.

Without bridges, Paris could hardly be the city it is today. The great "city of light" began very modestly as a village on a small island in the Seine, the Isle de la Cite. To expand the town, the ancient Parisii turned to bridges.

Houses were built on the early bridges, because the city was walled for protection and every available bit of space had to be used. Furthermore, the belief had arisen that houses strengthened a span.

All that changed after the Pont Neuf (New Bridge) was erected at the end of the 16th century. The bridge astonished Parisians by its size—it is large enough for modern traffic—and its sidewalks. At that time, Paris streets had none.

Uncluttered by houses, the spacious Pont Neuf became a carnival and market. Peddlers, dancers, jugglers and acrobats attracted crowds of shoppers and onlookers. Theatrical productions were staged.

Our Best Man Is On The Job

If some of us had forgotten what Dwight Eisenhower means to millions of Europeans, his reception abroad should set us to thinking about him.

The petty politics and nagging mishaps that sometimes have made him give the appearance of resenting his role in the White House were shucked off like an overcoat when he left the United States.

He is still regarded abroad as he was regarded at the climax of World War II and in the years that followed when he was the symbol of Europe's collective security.

Hecklers who have wondered if he was up to meeting the challenge of Nikita Khrushchev's blunt dialectics in a summit conference forgot what even the President's admirers had neglected to remember.

No other individual on earth can match the magnetic appeal of this wartime hero with the infectious grin, the ready word, the great ability to persuade people to get along with one another and the palpable devotion to the freedom and dignity of man. He is the "Great Persuader" of his era.

IN THE PUSH to make Premier Khrushchev seem to be the most powerful individual in the world — so powerful he can turn on revolution and disorder like water flowing from a tap—it has been overlooked that no one has matched Dwight Eisenhower's personal influence.

Whatever part of it may have been eroded in this country by political friction is insignificent compared with the massive remainder. This has been proved true to the consternation of some of the most tireless eroders.

We have our best man on the job in the summit showdown that could ease the tensions of mid-century in competition between the United States and the Soviet Union.

This is as much or more a contest for favorable opinion than a skirmish among legalists, which is what it seemed to be while the late John Foster Dulles was representing the United States. With due respect to Christian Herter, President Eisenhower is now what he never had tried to be while Mr. Dulles was at the head of the Department of State — a commanding personality, ready and willing to do everything in his personal power to win a battle of international opinion.

This is what he has said he believes to be his highest and ultimate mission in the presidency. He always has conceived his great role in public life to be that of a soldier turned peacemaker — a warrior with a sword beaten into a plowshare.

HE IS NOT ASHAMED to be looking for a formula that might lift some of the crushing burden of armament from the American people.

He obviously has reason to believe that Premier Khrushchev may be looking for a formula to do the same thing for the people of Russia.

If the two of them could find the terms of an agreement on that point of mutual concern, the world would be transformed. The armament race could slow down. Some of the wealth that must be poured into security could be diverted to more useful purposes.

This would not mean that either side had relented in the slightest degree from its basic position. It would not mean that any wrongdoing had been overlooked or condoned by Mr. Eisenhower. It would mean simply that the earth's two most powerful neighbors in the mid-20th century had found a way to compete without expending their energy on excessive armament.

It would not be peace, but it would be something better than the cold war which has kept the world in a state of tension ever since the end of the hot war in 1946.

A Blow For Freedom In Ohio

Printers' Ink, weekly magazine of advertising and marketing, says Ohio's right-to-advertise law that goes into effect Nov. 2 is likely to set off campaigns to pass similar laws in other states. A blow for freedom has been struck.

The significance of the Ohio law, which prevents any state agency or board with licensing powers from setting up regulations to control advertising, is the fact it was the first blow in a cause that was thought to be hopeless. Politicians had closed minds, it was believed.

If resistance can be overcome in one state, it can be overcome in all states. The Ohio pattern will be studied closely for use by other advertising people when the time comes to join the issue.

Two significant details are being noted.

1. The Ohio proposal had the support of Gov. DiSalle.

2. When it came to a vote, there was no doubt of its passage. It was adopted unanimously by the Ohio Senate and with only two dissenting votes by the House of Representatives. A close note would have been more defeat than victory.

The groundwork had been taken care of thoroughly. Once the legislators had been given the correct information — that this was a proposal to limit public restrictions on advertising to truth and decency—nothing else the question was an open-and-shut decision.

No legislator anywhere is going to stand up and be counted in public against a proposal to unshackle free enterprise from unreasonable political control. In private, perhaps, but not in public.

There Are Times When You Wonder

School will start again in a few days, and thoughts will turn to the millions of pupils who will be returning to their teachers.

Photographers will take pictures of typical scenes in this greatest of all mass movements. Stories will be written about the beginning of another school year, and there will be the customary worrying about whether the United States is ahead of, abreast of, or behind Russia in educational technique.

All this will be well and good. It will be inevitable. But you wonder sometimes if people don't get into a rut about these things and fail to take note of more important things.

For instance, in many families there currently is a homecoming of children who have spent the vacation months at summer camps at their families' expense — and is it not curious that more is paid out cheerfully for this short-term interlude than is paid out grudgingly in taxes for the long-term school year?

Or, to choose another often - overlooked circumstance, is it not odd that no one thanks the little paid members of school boards who make public education possible? In Little Rock, Ark., board members not only must take verbal abuse but are subject to business boycotts and physical violence if they stand up to the bully-boys. During the board's most recent meeting, the bully-boys were two white women who threw tear gas bombs, presumably to protest Little Rock's mild gestures of token integration.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Nothing brands this the screwiest of ages more than teachers, lawyers, school boards and civil liberties groups hurrying through streets, blocked by juvenile gang "rumbles," on their way to hassle over whether nondenominational prayer in public schools is good for kids.

Above the shootings, screams and howl of squad cars it wasn't easy to hear the New York State Supreme Court decision that a 22 word prayer in opening school sessions would not violate the Constitution, if speedy and non-compulsory.

But even as the misguided moppets slash, shoot, main and kill in a serious juvenile crime wave, the opponents, of a few words with God in the course of child-education, brush off daily scenes of boy-and-girl jungle paganism as they carry the fight against prayer to higher courts.

What's all the fuss about? This "quicky" supplication:

"Almighty God, we acknowledge our dependence on Thee and we beg Thy blessings upon us, our parents, our teachers and our country."

IMAGINE ANY CHILD, regardless of faith, creed or denomination, being hurt by this simple profession of belief in a divine being! Fancy legalistic quibblings which seem to substitute "Oh, schoolroom, schoolboards, teachers and courts, we beseech thee to guard against anything that can put tenderness, love and a scorn for violence in the heart of a child. We beg you all to fight the touch of faith that might save children from pagan patterns of viciousness leading them hell bent to prison and perhaps the chair."

Latest court decision is wishy-washy. It says school boards may allow, but not require the brief prayer and that children who do not wish to pray may COME LATE TO CLASS!

(We gotta stop now. There's another juvenile riot up the street, with an old man slugged by iron chains, a girl shot to death and four cops mobbed by kid hoodlums who seem to have wrong ideas about human decency, compassion and the teaching of all faiths.)

Demonstration Of Trust

Free People Offer Lesson To Iron Curtain

The cheers of the people of western Europe for President Eisenhower—exuberant and affectionate —are a reminder of the historic friendship between the United States and its allies. But the demonstrations signify even more — how free peoples trust one another. This is something that peoples behind the iron curtain might well examine, for it contains the very ingredients of international understanding that someday could apply its benefits to the whole world.

David Lawrence

In the personality of Dwight Eisenhower — a man of military background in the past but today a symbol of peace — the world sees a missionary seeking, by good will and a spirit of conciliation, to overcome the petty, narrow and self-centered policies of men in government that sometimes keep nations apart.

It is an open secret that Mr. Eisenhower is in western Europe this week as much to bind up the wounds of a strained governmental alliance with France as he is to prepare for the days next month in which he will represent the West in talks with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

DWIGHT EISENHOWER is popular in Europe as a man. But this is not simply because of his genial personality and innate friendliness. It is because of his record — he commanded the very forces that saved Britain and France 15 years ago. His acceptance by the people of West Germany is due largely to the fact that Gen. Eisenhower dealt with his defeated foes on a basis of decency and fairness.

Above all, President Eisenhower typifies the American spirit — the desire to see a nation like West Germany, which has repudiated Nazism and established a government of free institutions, preserve its independence and become reunited with their kinsmen in East Germany.

Every American president usually speaks in foreign affairs on behalf of the American people — there is less and less partisanship nowadays on such matters. Hence, a president of the United States, by a personal visit to countries allied with us, can accomplish a good deal to strengthen the ties with them.

Whatever may have been the original reasons that seemed to make it desirable for President Eisenhower to go overseas, the truth is that such a visit is constructively helpful in the long run and tends to promote a spirit of mutual concession in resolving differences.

Everybody knows that President De Gaulle is trying somehow to increase the prestige of France and his hold on his own country. He has several crucial points to discuss with Mr. Eisenhower, involving, of course, the plight of Algeria.

THE PRINCIPLE of American non-intervention in disputes inside other countries is well recognized everywhere but at the same time the yearning of colonial peoples for independence also strikes a sympathetic note in the United States.

Certainly the most important consideration is what will benefit a dependent people. To give them immediate independence is not always in their own best interest. Gradualism is a better approach, because economic disintegration and consequent suffering for the masses often follows too sudden a change in the governmental structure.

Indonesia, for example, has its independence today but is worse off than at any time since its people benefited by the enlightened colonialism of the Dutch government.

Mr. Eisenhower doesn't go to France as a mediator on the Algerian problem but to emphasize that Allied unity, especially in defense matters, is far more important than any other single factor in the internal situtaion confronting France.

To keep NATO planes from using bases inside France because the United States wouldn't grant information on nuclear weapons is petty tactics for any Frenchman to be practicing in these critical days.

After all, the United States has twice had to come to the rescue of France in world war crises and it would be a disservice to the people of France if, in this missile and atomic age, the weapons of war by which American planes could help stave off any attack on France were suddenly found lacking.

SURELY QUESTIONS like these, on sober second thought, will have to be handled with more tact in the future than they have been in the past, lest confidence in Gen. De Gaulle himself is weakened in America.

So far as relations with Britain are concerned, there is complete understanding and harmony. Mr. Eisenhower's visit to Bonn will reassure the West Germans that they are not to become the victims of a "deal" over West Berlin.

Entirely apart from the specific issues that must be dealt with by President Eisenhower on his mission to Bonn, London and Paris, it is heartening to see the western European peoples by their demonstrations showing the friendship they cherish for the people of America.

Maybe as Nikita Khrushchev examines the press reports, he will be a bit envious. If he could but understand it, peoples make heroes out of leaders who love humanity and freedom and show their disdain only for those who do not grasp the meaning of human love or its corollary — human freedom.

Letters To The Editor

When we moved into Beechwood four years ago, we did so knowing full well that a sanitary sewer was due to be put in any time.

Now that it has been started, I am sure that all the residents are as pleased as I that the thought of septic tank odors are soon to be ended.

We live on Center St., which is a dead end on the East End side, thus leaving us only one way out. When they began to dig they opened a little used alley and bluntly refused to open two other means of exit.

We repeatedly have called the city officials and they have said such things as "I have no authority . . .", "Call so and so . . .", "You must put up with a little inconvenience, you know . . ."

I wonder what they call dirt piled up five to six feet in front of your door or a 14-foot ditch down the middle of the road? To say nothing of the incessant grinding of those huge machines.

We sincerely pray that there will be no cause to call the fire department or ambulance for the next week or so for they couldn't possibly get in. But no one seems to believe that possibility. They ask, 'Will it hurt you to walk?'

I wonder how our mayor or safety service director would enjoy walking along these dark, dirt roads. It is a good four blocks to the highway, with only two street lights. Our teen-agers have as much right to be safe and enjoy themselves as anyone else.

The city engineer told me that this one alley will be passable after the sewer is put in. If they plan to open it eventually, why not now when we need it?

I am writing this letter to you to see if you will print it as a letter of protest against the IBOP in building our new hall 7 miles out of town.

I think it is going against the wishes of all the members of all the locals to go ahead and build the new hall that far out of town. I think we should have a vote on it. If the vote carries to build out of town, then I would say it was done right. I want to see if anyone has the nerve to protest as I have. I want to know why we can't build in town. I don't think we should hide it that far out of town. People might not find it.

So come on all you pottery workers. Show them you can protest too.

Bridgework

The city of Paris has more than 30 bridges to link its famous divisions — the Right Bank and the left Bank.

Busy people may regard the bridges merely as a way to get across the Seine River. But to the down-and-out, they give shelter. To painters, they offer beauty. To lovers, they provide a romantic setting.

Without bridges, Paris could hardly be the city it is today. The great "city of light" began very modestly as a village on a small island in the Seine, the Isle de la Cite. To expand the town, the ancient Parisii turned to bridges.

Houses were built on the early bridges, because the city was walled for protection and every available bit of space had to be used. Furthermore, the belief had arisen that houses strengthened a span.

All that changed after the Pont Neuf (New Bridge) was erected at the end of the 16th century. The bridge astonished Parisians by its size—it is large enough for modern traffic—and its sidewalks. At that time, Paris streets had none.

Uncluttered by houses, the spacious Pont Neuf became a carnival and market. Peddlers, dancers, jugglers and acrobats attracted crowds of shoppers and onlookers. Theatrical productions were staged.

Hearing Held For 6 Youths

LISBON — Hearings were held Friday before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin for six Lisbon boys arrested in gasoline thefts and stoning of the night patrolman at the County Fairgrounds early Wednesday.

All admitted stealing gas and throwing stones at Constable Roy Rogers of Butler Township as he was guarding the grounds. They said they intended thefts at the midway tents. A loaded revolver was found in their possession and they confessed the unarmed robbery of Richard Taylor of Lisbon last week.

Harold Bailey, 18, and Carl Rouse, 17, were sentenced to the Mansfield Reformatory for terms of a year or more; Donald Meeks, 17, received an indefinite term in the Boys Industrial School at Lancaster, along with Robert Dillinger, 17, and William Dillinger, 16, who were returned as parole violators. The younger boy was released from the Lancaster institution just four days ago.

The sixth youth is being held in the County Jail detention room awaiting sentencing after his hearing was continued.

Judge Tobin said Bailey and Rouse have been in the industrial school before. State Parole Officer Harry Smith took the Dillingers and Meeks to the industrial school.

Firemen Called When Service Line Breaks

City firemen were called to stand by on Center St. Friday night at 10:15 when a water service line broke. The street is isolated to traffic because of a sewer job and it was not known if the main would have to be shut off to make repairs.

The line broke near 224 Center and the water filled the ditch, causing it to sink. The water also overflowed. A clamp was put around the broken line, firemen said.

Firemen investigated a complaint of burning trash at 1215 Riverview St. Friday at 4:40 p. m.

Never Practiced Medicine

Doctor Is Business Whiz

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Medical student Armand Hammer worked his way through college. By the time he graduated, he had earned a million dollars and was thinking of retiring.

Today, 38 years and many more millions later, he's still going strong and isn't thinking of retiring.

He's recognized as one of the world's greatest salesmen. And he's a doctor who has never practiced medicine.

At 61, he's getting his feet wet in the oil business after amazing successes in international trade, selling art objects in quantities never known before, distilling, raising cattle.

He has two explanations for his successes:

"Grab opportunity by the forelock."

New York City-born Armand Hammer entered Columbia University, intent on being a doctor like his father.

In his freshman year, he and his brother, Harry, a chemist, formed a business. Harry manufactured industrial chemicals and pharmaceuticals. Armand sold them.

"We started out with a small place," Hammer says. "I went around calling on dealers and getting orders. We came to the conclusion there was going to be a great demand for chemicals and pharmaceuticals. We felt that with World War I over only a short time, the whole world would be starved for these products.

"We expanded while other people, expecting a slump, contracted. We put in big inventories and the demand developed overseas.

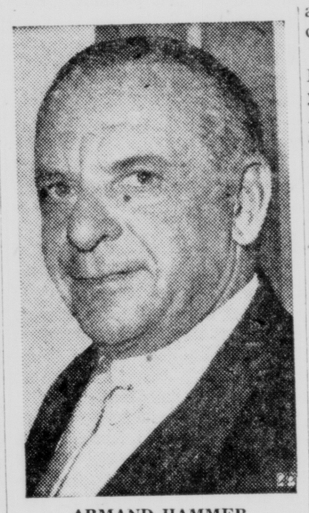

"I worked during the daytime and studied at night. I got my lecture notes from my roommates and was able to keep up with my studies (he graduated at the top of his class) and my business.

"By the time I was 23, we were employing several hundred persons, I had a medical degree and a million dollars.

"I got out of college in July, 1921," he says. "I was offered an internship at Bellevue Hospital but it didn't start until January. I had read of the terrible famine in Russia and decided to do what I could about it.

"I bought a complete field hospital from the government and went to Russia and did relief work. I found people dying like flies.

"After I had worked among the Russians for a while, I asked them how much grain they needed to get by until the next harvest. They told me. I said I'll bring over boats filled with grain if you will fill the boats with something you want to sell.

ARMAND HAMMER
Doctor Of Success.

"I found myself a hero overnight. I was invited to Moscow to meet Lenin. I obtained the first foreign trading concession granted by the Communist government.

"I came back to the United States and arranged a contract with Ford Motor Co. and 38 other American firms to sell their products in Russia. I organized Hammer Industrial Co.

"I found out that the government was selling art treasures from the Czarist palaces. With my brother, Victor, who had studied art, I started buying.

With the art treasures they brought back, Armand, Victor and Harry established Hammer Galleries in New York City and started selling the art objects through department stores. This shocked art circles.

"But we figured that if you give people bargains, they will buy," Hammer says. "We opened what we thought would be a two-week sale at Marshall Field's in Chicago. It went on for two years."

Later on, one thing led to another for Hammer.

"I had 5,000 shares of stock in American Distillery Co." he relates. "In 1943, the company declared a dividend of one barrel of whisky for each share of stock.

"I bottled my whisky and went to Gimbel's Department Store and arranged for them to sell it. There were customers lined up for five blocks outside the store. The war was on, you know, and whisky was scarce.

"I realized I would soon be out of whisky at that rate. A chemist friend suggested, 'Why don't you make alcohol out of potatoes and use it to make blended whisky?'

"I got government approval and bought a plant at Newmarket, N.H., and potatoes in Maine. It was the first potato alcohol plant in the United States.

Once again, one thing led to another.

"We were selling a distillation by-product as cattle feed," Hammer says. "I established Shadow Isle Farms at Coltenick, N.J., and raised cattle so I could show buyers how good our feed was. We raised black angus cattle and had the first million-dollar cattle sale in the country."

Hammer was president of Mutual Broadcasting System for a year and then came to Los Angeles for a visit three years ago.

"An accountant friend told me about the tax advantages of drilling for oil," he says, explaining his latest venture. He invested in Occidental Petroleum Co., a 40-year-old firm with depleted wells, and became its president two years ago.

"When I came along, the company was worth only $120,000," he says. "I agreed to loan the company some money if it would drill wells for itself and for me. I guess I had beginner's luck. Both of the first wells came in — one with an oil field. The company now has a value of 12 million dollars."

"The oil business is romantic," Hammer says. "It gets into your blood. I like it better than anything I have ever been in."

But Hammer likes to dream, too, about the one career he passed up — medicine.

"I think I would have made a pretty good doctor," he grins. "I have always renewed my license to practice every year. If anything ever happens, I'll have something to fall back on."

This Fire Fizzled

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — A brush fire was burning along Joppa Road when Michael Selsi and James Rice stopped their soft drink truck. They couldn't put it out by stomping so Selsi and Rice shook up half a case of carbonated water. Opening the bottles one by one, and regulating the squirting liquid with their thumbs, they successfully put out the fire.

Ike Planning Dinner With War 'Buddies'

LONDON (AP) — President Eisenhower is planning a dinner for wartime colleagues that could touch off quite a lively table discussion.

The former Allied supreme commander in Europe is giving the affair at the U.S. embassy Tuesday for Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery and several other old comrades in arms.

The British hero of El Alamein has not seen the President since the publication last year of his memoirs criticizing Eisenhower's strategy in the closing stages of World War II. The President is said to have resented some of Montgomery's comments.

"Of course I am going," he snapped. "What would you expect me to do?"

Montgomery's former Chief of Staff, Gen. Sir Francis De Guingand, is also expected to be there. During the war he had close contact with both Montgomery and Eisenhower.

Another at the table will be Gen. Sir Frederick Morgan, deputy chief of staff to Eisenhower, who recently said:

Average Citizen Paid $568 Taxes In 1958 Fiscal

This brought in $98,300,000,000 to all the government treasuries.

Both figures, the Census Bureau reported Friday, were less than the year before. The average American paid $11 less in taxes than he did in fiscal 1957. The treasuries collected 300 million dollars less. The recession caused the decreases.

Federal tax intake dropped by $1,800,000,000. But state and local governments, by starting new taxes and raising rates, increased their revenues by 1½ billion dollars.

Meanwhile, total government debt increased to $334,400,000,000. Federal debt reached $276,300,000,000 and state and local debt reached more than 58 billion dollars.

Luncheon To Be Tuesday

Area Rotary Governor To Be City Club's Guest

Amos R. Buchman, district governor of the 37 Rotary Clubs located in East Central Ohio, comprising Rotary International's District 665, will be guest speaker at Tuesday's meeting of the city club at noon in the Travelers Hotel.

Buchman, making his annual official visit to the local club, will also confer with Charles D. Taylor, president; Harold B. Barth, secretary, and committee chairmen on Rotary administration and service activities.

Buchman has been district manager for the East Ohio Gas Co. in the Wooster area during the past 24 years. He served in a similar capacity in the Dover-New Philadelphia district between 1932 and 1935 following graduation from Case Institute of Technology.

His election as a district governor for the 1959-60 fiscal year occurred at Rotary's 50th annual convention in New York City last June. He is one of 261 district governor's supervising the activities of more than 10,200 Rotary Clubs having a total membership of nearly half a million business and professional men in 113 countries throughout the world.

His remarks before the local club will stress the "influence of Rotary International in building bridges of friendship among the varied races and nationalities brought into close communication as a result of today's industrial, economic and political trends," sponsors said.

Protected By Water

Navy Volunteers Tolerate 31 Times Force Of Gravity

WASHINGTON (AP)—Navy volunteers, protected by water like the yolk in an egg, have set new records in withstanding tremendous gravity forces, the kind men might experience in space flight.

One volunteer, riding a super-speed merry - go - round called a centrifuge, tolerated 31 times the force of gravity. That made his normal 185 - pound weight seem like 5,700 pounds. The previous record was a little over 20 G's.

Two other Navy men also broke the record, withstanding 28 G's and 26 G's in the centrifuge. A Navy report made available to a reporter today described the experiment.

They rode in a strange device called the Iron Maiden, a steel capsule shaped like a seated man and filled with water to immerse the rider completely. The water, a new technique in gravity force experiments, served as a cushion between the men and the sides of the capsule. They had a breathing device.

The capsule is a possible forerunner of similar devices for spaceships. It was spun on an arm at more than 3,000 miles an hour for a period of 12 seconds.

The Air Force's Col. John Stapp, riding on rocket sled, has sustained up to 45 G's when the sled was brought to an abrupt halt. But this maximum G-force was only for a fraction of a second. In the centrifuge water-capsule tests, the maximum forces were sustained for periods of five seconds.

They foresee that such forces, including tumbling and spinning, might occur during the re-entry of a space vehicle into the earth's atmosphere.

Navy scientists said a water-filled capsule conceivably could be used during take-offs. It has an advantage—it allows free motion of a man's hands for handling instruments. Other arrangements might require securing the man in a motionless state.

In the test device used at Johnsville, riders can get the water out of the capsule in five seconds, stop the centrifuge and sound a siren to alert a rescue crew if anything goes wrong. All they have to do is press a button.

3 Are Questioned In Bludgeon Death

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police took three men into custody Friday for questioning in the bludgeon death of Thomas J. O'Keefe. But investigators gave no indication any of the three is a prime suspect.

O'Keefe, 59-year-old insurance adjuster, was found clubbed to death Thursday in a washroom of a downtown office building.

Officers Friday questioned a 37-year-old man who Thursday had washed out a blood-stained towel in the employes washroom of a private club. The towel was sent for laboratory analysis.

Police also planned laboratory test for a group of stained, wet garment found in a shopping bag carried by one of two young men questioned in the case.

County Girl Wins Place In State Fair Queen Court

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay E. Denny of Salem R. D. 2, Pat has been active in 4-H about 10 years. She is a member of the Butler Jolly Workers Club and Junior Leadership Club and is secretary of the Junior Fair Board.

Selection to the queen's court at Youth Day ceremonies means TV appearances, taking part in the daily State Fair activities and an extra week at the fair, her father said today.

"She wasn't expecting to be chosen and didn't take enough clothes along" for an extra week, laughed her father. There were 88 counties represented in the selection of the state's Junior Fair queen.

Trumbull Relief Program May Be $500,000 In Red

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Welfare Director W. S. Wike says Trumbull County's relief program may end up a half-million dollars in the red by the end of the year.

He said Friday that relief funds were exhausted July 1. These funds included $400,000 received from the state utility tax and $200,000 received from the state in matching funds. Also gone is a $50,000 appropriation from anticipated funds approved by the county commissioners last week. The state will pay $25,000 in matching funds for the commissioners' appropriation.

Wike said 204 striking steelworkers on relief brought the total number of cases to 704, but that relief funds would be short even without the steel strike.

Firemen Called When Service Line Breaks

City firemen were called to stand by on Center St. Friday night at 10:15 when a water service line broke. The street is isolated to traffic because of a sewer job and it was not known if the main would have to be shut off to make repairs.

The line broke near 224 Center and the water filled the ditch, causing it to sink. The water also overflowed. A clamp was put around the broken line, firemen said.

Firemen investigated a complaint of burning trash at 1215 Riverview St. Friday at 4:40 p. m.

Never Practiced Medicine

Doctor Is Business Whiz

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Medical student Armand Hammer worked his way through college. By the time he graduated, he had earned a million dollars and was thinking of retiring.

Today, 38 years and many more millions later, he's still going strong and isn't thinking of retiring.

He's recognized as one of the world's greatest salesmen. And he's a doctor who has never practiced medicine.

At 61, he's getting his feet wet in the oil business after amazing successes in international trade, selling art objects in quantities never known before, distilling, raising cattle.

He has two explanations for his successes:

"Grab opportunity by the forelock."

New York City-born Armand Hammer entered Columbia University, intent on being a doctor like his father.

In his freshman year, he and his brother, Harry, a chemist, formed a business. Harry manufactured industrial chemicals and pharmaceuticals. Armand sold them.

"We started out with a small place," Hammer says. "I went around calling on dealers and getting orders. We came to the conclusion there was going to be a great demand for chemicals and pharmaceuticals. We felt that with World War I over only a short time, the whole world would be starved for these products.

"We expanded while other people, expecting a slump, contracted. We put in big inventories and the demand developed overseas.

"I worked during the daytime and studied at night. I got my lecture notes from my roommates and was able to keep up with my studies (he graduated at the top of his class) and my business.

"By the time I was 23, we were employing several hundred persons, I had a medical degree and a million dollars.

"I got out of college in July, 1921," he says. "I was offered an internship at Bellevue Hospital but it didn't start until January. I had read of the terrible famine in Russia and decided to do what I could about it.

"I bought a complete field hospital from the government and went to Russia and did relief work. I found people dying like flies.

"After I had worked among the Russians for a while, I asked them how much grain they needed to get by until the next harvest. They told me. I said I'll bring over boats filled with grain if you will fill the boats with something you want to sell.

ARMAND HAMMER
Doctor Of Success.

"I found myself a hero overnight. I was invited to Moscow to meet Lenin. I obtained the first foreign trading concession granted by the Communist government.

"I came back to the United States and arranged a contract with Ford Motor Co. and 38 other American firms to sell their products in Russia. I organized Hammer Industrial Co.

"I found out that the government was selling art treasures from the Czarist palaces. With my brother, Victor, who had studied art, I started buying.

With the art treasures they brought back, Armand, Victor and Harry established Hammer Galleries in New York City and started selling the art objects through department stores. This shocked art circles.

"But we figured that if you give people bargains, they will buy," Hammer says. "We opened what we thought would be a two-week sale at Marshall Field's in Chicago. It went on for two years."

Later on, one thing led to another for Hammer.

"I had 5,000 shares of stock in American Distillery Co." he relates. "In 1943, the company declared a dividend of one barrel of whisky for each share of stock.

"I bottled my whisky and went to Gimbel's Department Store and arranged for them to sell it. There were customers lined up for five blocks outside the store. The war was on, you know, and whisky was scarce.

"I realized I would soon be out of whisky at that rate. A chemist friend suggested, 'Why don't you make alcohol out of potatoes and use it to make blended whisky?'

"I got government approval and bought a plant at Newmarket, N.H., and potatoes in Maine. It was the first potato alcohol plant in the United States.

Once again, one thing led to another.

"We were selling a distillation by-product as cattle feed," Hammer says. "I established Shadow Isle Farms at Coltenick, N.J., and raised cattle so I could show buyers how good our feed was. We raised black angus cattle and had the first million-dollar cattle sale in the country."

Hammer was president of Mutual Broadcasting System for a year and then came to Los Angeles for a visit three years ago.

"An accountant friend told me about the tax advantages of drilling for oil," he says, explaining his latest venture. He invested in Occidental Petroleum Co., a 40-year-old firm with depleted wells, and became its president two years ago.

"When I came along, the company was worth only $120,000," he says. "I agreed to loan the company some money if it would drill wells for itself and for me. I guess I had beginner's luck. Both of the first wells came in — one with an oil field. The company now has a value of 12 million dollars."

"The oil business is romantic," Hammer says. "It gets into your blood. I like it better than anything I have ever been in."

But Hammer likes to dream, too, about the one career he passed up — medicine.

"I think I would have made a pretty good doctor," he grins. "I have always renewed my license to practice every year. If anything ever happens, I'll have something to fall back on."

This Fire Fizzled

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — A brush fire was burning along Joppa Road when Michael Selsi and James Rice stopped their soft drink truck. They couldn't put it out by stomping so Selsi and Rice shook up half a case of carbonated water. Opening the bottles one by one, and regulating the squirting liquid with their thumbs, they successfully put out the fire.

Ike Planning Dinner With War 'Buddies'

LONDON (AP) — President Eisenhower is planning a dinner for wartime colleagues that could touch off quite a lively table discussion.

The former Allied supreme commander in Europe is giving the affair at the U.S. embassy Tuesday for Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery and several other old comrades in arms.

The British hero of El Alamein has not seen the President since the publication last year of his memoirs criticizing Eisenhower's strategy in the closing stages of World War II. The President is said to have resented some of Montgomery's comments.

"Of course I am going," he snapped. "What would you expect me to do?"

Montgomery's former Chief of Staff, Gen. Sir Francis De Guingand, is also expected to be there. During the war he had close contact with both Montgomery and Eisenhower.

Another at the table will be Gen. Sir Frederick Morgan, deputy chief of staff to Eisenhower, who recently said:

Average Citizen Paid $568 Taxes In 1958 Fiscal

This brought in $98,300,000,000 to all the government treasuries.

Both figures, the Census Bureau reported Friday, were less than the year before. The average American paid $11 less in taxes than he did in fiscal 1957. The treasuries collected 300 million dollars less. The recession caused the decreases.

Federal tax intake dropped by $1,800,000,000. But state and local governments, by starting new taxes and raising rates, increased their revenues by 1½ billion dollars.

Meanwhile, total government debt increased to $334,400,000,000. Federal debt reached $276,300,000,000 and state and local debt reached more than 58 billion dollars.

Protected By Water

Navy Volunteers Tolerate 31 Times Force Of Gravity

WASHINGTON (AP)—Navy volunteers, protected by water like the yolk in an egg, have set new records in withstanding tremendous gravity forces, the kind men might experience in space flight.

One volunteer, riding a super-speed merry - go - round called a centrifuge, tolerated 31 times the force of gravity. That made his normal 185 - pound weight seem like 5,700 pounds. The previous record was a little over 20 G's.

Two other Navy men also broke the record, withstanding 28 G's and 26 G's in the centrifuge. A Navy report made available to a reporter today described the experiment.

They rode in a strange device called the Iron Maiden, a steel capsule shaped like a seated man and filled with water to immerse the rider completely. The water, a new technique in gravity force experiments, served as a cushion between the men and the sides of the capsule. They had a breathing device.

The capsule is a possible forerunner of similar devices for spaceships. It was spun on an arm at more than 3,000 miles an hour for a period of 12 seconds.

The Air Force's Col. John Stapp, riding on rocket sled, has sustained up to 45 G's when the sled was brought to an abrupt halt. But this maximum G-force was only for a fraction of a second. In the centrifuge water-capsule tests, the maximum forces were sustained for periods of five seconds.

They foresee that such forces, including tumbling and spinning, might occur during the re-entry of a space vehicle into the earth's atmosphere.

Navy scientists said a water-filled capsule conceivably could be used during take-offs. It has an advantage—it allows free motion of a man's hands for handling instruments. Other arrangements might require securing the man in a motionless state.

In the test device used at Johnsville, riders can get the water out of the capsule in five seconds, stop the centrifuge and sound a siren to alert a rescue crew if anything goes wrong. All they have to do is press a button.

3 Are Questioned In Bludgeon Death

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police took three men into custody Friday for questioning in the bludgeon death of Thomas J. O'Keefe. But investigators gave no indication any of the three is a prime suspect.

O'Keefe, 59-year-old insurance adjuster, was found clubbed to death Thursday in a washroom of a downtown office building.

Officers Friday questioned a 37-year-old man who Thursday had washed out a blood-stained towel in the employes washroom of a private club. The towel was sent for laboratory analysis.

Police also planned laboratory test for a group of stained, wet garment found in a shopping bag carried by one of two young men questioned in the case.

County Girl Wins Place In State Fair Queen Court

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay E. Denny of Salem R. D. 2, Pat has been active in 4-H about 10 years. She is a member of the Butler Jolly Workers Club and Junior Leadership Club and is secretary of the Junior Fair Board.

Selection to the queen's court at Youth Day ceremonies means TV appearances, taking part in the daily State Fair activities and an extra week at the fair, her father said today.

"She wasn't expecting to be chosen and didn't take enough clothes along" for an extra week, laughed her father. There were 88 counties represented in the selection of the state's Junior Fair queen.

Trumbull Relief Program May Be $500,000 In Red

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Welfare Director W. S. Wike says Trumbull County's relief program may end up a half-million dollars in the red by the end of the year.

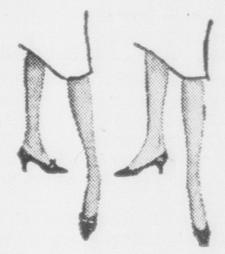

He said Friday that relief funds were exhausted July 1. These funds included $400,000 received from the state utility tax and $200,000 received from the state in matching funds. Also gone is a $50,000 appropriation from anticipated funds approved by the county commissioners last week. The state will pay $25,000 in matching funds for the commissioners' appropriation.

Wike said 204 striking steelworkers on relief brought the total number of cases to 704, but that relief funds would be short even without the steel strike.

The Salvation Army

FAREWELL—

And Thanks

To The People of East Liverpool and Area —

The eve of our departure from your community is at hand, and it is with mingled emotions and regret that we are obliged to "pull up stakes" and sojourn to other sectors of the far-flung battle line of Christendom.

We leave this area with many unfilled dreams, but since the providence of God has so decreed this change through the "powers that be" we can only respond in obedience to what we feel is the Will of God.

It has been our desire to keep you informed of the work of The Salvation Army through this "ministry of information", and many of you have heeded our call as we "plead the cause of the needy" and we want you to know we fully appreciate the moral and financial support accorded our endeavors in your community, and fervently invoke God's blessings upon us all.

Gratefully yours,

Senior-Major and

Mrs. William Murtaugh

Humanity Calling

Major William Murtaugh

FAREWELL—

And Thanks

To The People of East Liverpool and Area —

The eve of our departure from your community is at hand, and it is with mingled emotions and regret that we are obliged to "pull up stakes" and sojourn to other sectors of the far-flung battle line of Christendom.

We leave this area with many unfilled dreams, but since the providence of God has so decreed this change through the "powers that be" we can only respond in obedience to what we feel is the Will of God.

It has been our desire to keep you informed of the work of The Salvation Army through this "ministry of information", and many of you have heeded our call as we "plead the cause of the needy" and we want you to know we fully appreciate the moral and financial support accorded our endeavors in your community, and fervently invoke God's blessings upon us all.

Gratefully yours,

Mrs. William Murtaugh

Church Leaders Who Assailed Khrushchev Visit Criticized

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

Church leaders who have been outspoken against the visit of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to the United States were taken to task last week by the influential weekly magazine "The Lutheran."

The Rev. Dr. Albert P. Stauderman, associate editor, in an editorial questioned whether churchly critics of the visit "lack all confidence in the redeeming and converting power of the Christian faith."

"The proposed exchange of visits between President Eisenhower and Premier Khrushchev is an example of (a) more mature attitude" in international relations, wrote the Rev. Dr. Stauderman.

"If each side can make its position clear to the other, there's a workable chance for an agreeable decision. The only alternative is desperate conflict which, with modern weapons, could destroy civilization.

"In view of this, it's hard to understand the attitude of some Roman Catholic bishops and some fundamentalist fanatics who are trying to stir up opposition to Mr. K's visit.

"Of course, a few visits between statesmen won't end tensions that have built up over the years. The most we can hope for is mutual understanding that will enable the world to live in peace.

"Once that is achieved, more complete world brotherhood can come in only one way — through the power of the Gospel."

Two of the leading critics of the Khrushchev visit have been Richard Cardinal Cushing, Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston, and the Rev. Dr. Clyde J. Kennedy, president of the fundamentalist American Council of Christian Churches.

Some churchmen, while viewing the visit with something short of world enthusiasm, see it as an opportunity for Americans to show the Soviet leader their religious life—for whatever good it will do.

Evangelist Billy Graham, who visited the Soviet Union this summer, has suggested that President Eisenhower should take Khrushchev to church while he is here.

When it comes to sheer intrigue, I say dandelions are the world's cleverest weeds.

Then when I have spent most of the summer rooting them out, the last cunning survivors always enlist the help of my own youngsters to plant a bumper crop for next year.

But there are weeds more serious than dandelions—weeds which like the tares in Christ's parable are planted by an Enemy. These are my real concern when I think about my youngsters. I want no evil to choke or twist the character of my sons and daughters. Nor do I want them to spread the spores of evil that will undermine the character of others

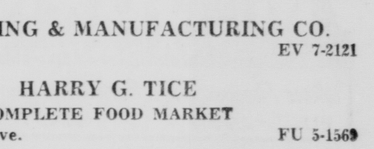

I believe that God meant me to seek truth and moral courage through the teaching, preaching and fellowship His Church provides. Every Sunday I share these blessings with my family.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Church Leaders Who Assailed Khrushchev Visit Criticized

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

Church leaders who have been outspoken against the visit of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to the United States were taken to task last week by the influential weekly magazine "The Lutheran."

The Rev. Dr. Albert P. Stauderman, associate editor, in an editorial questioned whether churchly critics of the visit "lack all confidence in the redeeming and converting power of the Christian faith."

"The proposed exchange of visits between President Eisenhower and Premier Khrushchev is an example of (a) more mature attitude" in international relations, wrote the Rev. Dr. Stauderman.

"If each side can make its position clear to the other, there's a workable chance for an agreeable decision. The only alternative is desperate conflict which, with modern weapons, could destroy civilization.

"In view of this, it's hard to understand the attitude of some Roman Catholic bishops and some fundamentalist fanatics who are trying to stir up opposition to Mr. K's visit.

"Of course, a few visits between statesmen won't end tensions that have built up over the years. The most we can hope for is mutual understanding that will enable the world to live in peace.

"Once that is achieved, more complete world brotherhood can come in only one way — through the power of the Gospel."

Two of the leading critics of the Khrushchev visit have been Richard Cardinal Cushing, Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston, and the Rev. Dr. Clyde J. Kennedy, president of the fundamentalist American Council of Christian Churches.

Some churchmen, while viewing the visit with something short of world enthusiasm, see it as an opportunity for Americans to show the Soviet leader their religious life—for whatever good it will do.

Evangelist Billy Graham, who visited the Soviet Union this summer, has suggested that President Eisenhower should take Khrushchev to church while he is here.

His Wife's Back Home But He's In Hospital

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A young sailor came home on leave to be with his wife when she had their first baby. She's home with the child today but 21-year-old Lloyd Nilson stayed on at the hospital.

While Mrs. Clarice Nilson, also 21, was giving birth to a boy, her husband became ill. Dr. William W. Wilkinson, who attended the mother, wheeled the young father into her room to see the baby, then wheeled him into surgery and removed his appendix.

When it comes to sheer intrigue, I say dandelions are the world's cleverest weeds.

Then when I have spent most of the summer rooting them out, the last cunning survivors always enlist the help of my own youngsters to plant a bumper crop for next year.

But there are weeds more serious than dandelions—weeds which like the tares in Christ's parable are planted by an Enemy. These are my real concern when I think about my youngsters. I want no evil to choke or twist the character of my sons and daughters. Nor do I want them to spread the spores of evil that will undermine the character of others

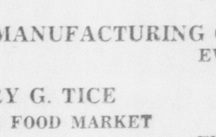

I believe that God meant me to seek truth and moral courage through the teaching, preaching and fellowship His Church provides. Every Sunday I share these blessings with my family.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Candlelight Event Is Appeal To End Teen Gang War

NEW YORK (AP) — An annual festival on the lower East Side Friday night was replaced by a solemn, candlelight procession through the humid streets in a mass appeal for an end to teenage gang warfare.

It was the date marking the Festival of St. Augustine, an occasion heretofore celebrated with street dancing and gaiety.

A statue of St. Augustine was borne aloft, but it was carried in a procession of clergymen and anxious mothers who distributed pamphlets urging people to pray for "peace on our streets."

A two-year gang truce, arranged by clergy and social workers of the area, terminated last Sunday with savage violence. After a battle between the Sportsmen and Forsyth gangs, Theresa Gee, 15, a Negro girl, lay dead, and Julio Rosario, 14, so badly wounded he died two days later. Six other youths were stabbed or shot.

The New York Times reported today that at least three dozen youth gang leaders had been persuaded to quit the lower East Side and take temporary jobs outside the city or attend camps.

Ike

Still another sign just beyond a pub called The Swan had this message: "Welcome Ike. Come on in."

Cheers and cries of "I Like Ike" from a Royal Air Force Comet airliner at Benson Air Base - a base he knew well from his days as the Allied commander in World War II.

Eisenhower got up early to head back to the conference table. He was awakened by the skirling bagpipes of the royal piper.

Queen Elizabeth II and other members of the royal family, including Prince Charles and Princess Anne, saw him off. Prince Philip rode to Dyce Airport near Aberdeen with the President for his flight back to England.

The Eisenhower - Macmillan meeting, which British newspapers have dubbed "the little summit," has no fixed agenda.

Main discussion topics are sure to include the Soviet threat to West Berlin, world nuclear disarmament, and the shoring up of the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance.

Communist moves in Laos and the outbreak on the India-Red China frontier also are expected to come under scrutiny.

Eisenhower clearly enjoyed his visit with the Queen and her family, a lakeside family picnic and the cold war to babies.

But even in the Scottish highlands, he could not entirely escape throngs. Scots gave him the biggest welcome ever accorded a foreigner on his arrival here Friday.

Although accorded something less than all-out cordial treatment, Macmillan came away convinced that the only hope of the Western allies for easing tension lay in a summit conference with Khrushchev.

Eisenhower said then—and repeated in Bonn a few days ago—that he wants some assurance there would be progress at the summit before agreeing to such a meeting.

The arrangement of the Eisenhower-Khrushchev talks apparently has caused Macmillan and his advisers to revise their thinking regarding a summit session. The British definitely still want one, but reportedly now are more willing to wait.

De Gaulle wants equal footing in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization with the United States and Britain. What to do about it — and the delicate issue of France's thorny problems in Algeria—were likely to take up a good deal of time of Eisenhower and Macmillan.

The meeting in Paris is the last stop in Eisenhower's mission to Europe as a prelude to his Washington conferences with Khrushchev starting Sept. 15.

Earlier this week the President met with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in Bonn and said afterward, "I believe we have achieved much."

Tomlinson Park May Set Record

The heat wave searing Tri-State area residents may result in attendance record for Hancock County's Tomlinson Run State Park.

N. T. Holbrook, park supervisor for the past 6 years, said today that he expects an attendance figure of 240,000 to be posted by the end of this year. That would be an all-time record.

Holbrook based his prediction on the fact that the park on Route 2 near Pughtown has had 192,000 visitors already this year and there still are four more months. Attendance for 1958 was some 200,000.

The modern swimming pool has already attracted 47,000 — a record figure. The pool will close shortly after Labor Day, he said. Only 32,000 swimmers used pool facilities in 1958.

Boating on the park's 28 - acre lake has more than doubled while 6 cabins used by youth groups have been reserved until Sept. 12.

Confident Living

Dr. Norman Vincent Peale

A Visit With An Interesting Young King

I am writing this piece on the wide veranda of the Philadelphia Hotel in Amman, Jordan. Philadelphia is the old Biblical name of this place which was the capital of the ancient Ammonites. Directly across the road are well - preserved ruins of a Roman amphitheatre seating 4,000 persons, which indicates the town's importance from ancient times.

Dr. Peale

On the heights above the city David placed Uriah, the Hittite, in the forefront of the battle and had him killed, that he might take his wife Bathsheba. Not far away down the road to Jericho are the plains of Jubboch, where Jacob wrestled with the angel and where his name was changed from Jacob to Israel. Biblical history encircles you about at Amman. But current history also thrills.

AMMAN IS a rapidly growing city of nearly 300,000 people, swollen in the past 10 years by thousands of refugees from Palestine.

Built on seven hills, like Rome, the heights are crowned by beautiful homes. The center is an Oriental city with all the typical sights and sounds of teeming streets. Bearded bedouins, black-veiled women, sheiks and thousands of Jordanian soldiers mingle in the throngs. Cars weave in and out through a continuous procession of small, pert donkeys and ponderous camels carrying all sorts of produce. Bright - colored merchandise fills the shops and bazars.

Arabs are lovable people and in the many days I've spent in the Middle East I have a memory of flashing smiles and much kindness. They like Americans, whom they think of as friends, and they are very appreciative of our Point Four assistance in road building, education and industrial guidance.

UNRWA officials took me to refugee camps, of which there are 40 in Jordan, comprising some 600,000 displaced persons. In the whole Middle East the number is approximately one million who lost homes, property, jobs — everything. It is one of the great sociological problems in the world today.

One wonders if there can ever be true peace or prosperity in the world where any injustice remains uncorrected. The world cannot shut its eyes to any human problem and not suffer for it. Certainly we have not grown so callous that we do not care about human agony any more.

One individual I met, a young man 24 years of age, happens to be a king; King of the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan. He is a great favorite of his people. He flies a military plane; in fact, recently in the United States he flew at a speed of 1,000 miles an hour.

MY WIFE, my three children and I visited him in his palace high above the city. There is little formality and absolutely no stuffed - shirtism about this young king. He greeted us simply and with a very engaging smile. Dressed in a gray suit and red tie, he sat behind his desk and talked with us for more than half an hour.

He has a delightful sense of humor and we had a lot of fun in our visit. A sample of quick wit is the time, while he was touring the United States recently, an American girl tried to take a snapshot of him and in so doing stumbled over a rug and fell at his feet. With a grin, the young king said, "Isn't that a dainty dish to set before a king?"

For a youth of 24, King Hussein is the most mature man I think I have ever met. Being always interested in what makes people tick, I asked if I might put a personal question to him.

"In view of all you have been through (grandfather assassinated before his eyes; cousin, King of Iraq, murdered; an abortive attempt to overthrow his government; as well as difficult problems of state) how did you preserve such balance of mind and spirit?"

His quiet answer was, "I try to do right. I do my best, that is all. Then I leave it to God." And that isn't a bad answer for anyone, king or commoner. King Hussein impresses one as a born leader of men. As one of his prominent subjects said to me, "He is the grandson of a king, son of a king, and himself a king, but if he were a plain man he would still be somebody."

HE HAS great plans for his country, chief of which is to help his people to live lives of freedom and peace. He hopes that American citizens will get acquainted with Jordan and asked me to extend, on his behalf, an invitation to Americans to visit his country.

"What shall I say about Jordan to my fellow countrymen?" I asked.

"Just tell them what you see here. Just tell them the truth about us as you see it."

Well, I am glad to do just that and to say that I like the young king and his interesting people. I always shall carry pleasant memories of the beautiful land of Jordan set as a gem among the mountains of Moab and Judea.

Both officers have the approval of the post's executive committee. Others were elected June 15.

Pennsy Cuts Nonunion Workers Pay 5-10%

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania Railroad announced Friday that salaries of nonunion employes will be cut by 5 to 10 per cent, effective next Tuesday.

The cut will be 10 per cent on salaries over $10,000, and 5 per cent on those above $7,200.

The railroad said the reductions, affecting executives, supervisors and some office employes, are a result of lost revenues in the steel strike which is now in its second month.

National Guardsman Got Red Face At Fair

At one minute to 6 a. m., the captain complained to the officials: "Someone over here claims she's Miss Ohio."

2 To Get Hearing After Alarm Over 'Hoax' Drowning

Drowning is not a joking matter, a Wellsville man and one from Negley learned today after they were held for hearings before County Judge Samuel Spalding at East Palestine.

The hoax resulted in a general alarm with sheriff's deputies and East Liverpool firemen called out to drag Beaver Creek at Fredericktown about 6 a. m. today.

George Crawford, 23, of 1006 Commerce St., Wellsville, and Curtis Hague, 34, of Negley R. D. 1 went swimming in the creek at 3:30 a. m.

Crawford swam out of sight and Hague believed he had drowned. Hague hurried home nd advised his father, who alerted authorities.

The sheriff's office sent deputies and firemen were called and Constable John Jackson arrived on the scene. They soon found Crawford asleep on a rock.

He said he was playing a joke on Hague.

Still another sign just beyond a pub called The Swan had this message: "Welcome Ike. Come on in."

Cheers and cries of "I Like Ike" from a Royal Air Force Comet airliner at Benson Air Base - a base he knew well from his days as the Allied commander in World War II.

Eisenhower got up early to head back to the conference table. He was awakened by the skirling bagpipes of the royal piper.

Queen Elizabeth II and other members of the royal family, including Prince Charles and Princess Anne, saw him off. Prince Philip rode to Dyce Airport near Aberdeen with the President for his flight back to England.

The Eisenhower - Macmillan meeting, which British newspapers have dubbed "the little summit," has no fixed agenda.

Main discussion topics are sure to include the Soviet threat to West Berlin, world nuclear disarmament, and the shoring up of the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance.

Communist moves in Laos and the outbreak on the India-Red China frontier also are expected to come under scrutiny.

Eisenhower clearly enjoyed his visit with the Queen and her family, a lakeside family picnic and the cold war to babies.

But even in the Scottish highlands, he could not entirely escape throngs. Scots gave him the biggest welcome ever accorded a foreigner on his arrival here Friday.

Although accorded something less than all-out cordial treatment, Macmillan came away convinced that the only hope of the Western allies for easing tension lay in a summit conference with Khrushchev.

Eisenhower said then—and repeated in Bonn a few days ago—that he wants some assurance there would be progress at the summit before agreeing to such a meeting.

The arrangement of the Eisenhower-Khrushchev talks apparently has caused Macmillan and his advisers to revise their thinking regarding a summit session. The British definitely still want one, but reportedly now are more willing to wait.

De Gaulle wants equal footing in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization with the United States and Britain. What to do about it — and the delicate issue of France's thorny problems in Algeria—were likely to take up a good deal of time of Eisenhower and Macmillan.

The meeting in Paris is the last stop in Eisenhower's mission to Europe as a prelude to his Washington conferences with Khrushchev starting Sept. 15.

Earlier this week the President met with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in Bonn and said afterward, "I believe we have achieved much."

Tomlinson Park May Set Record

The heat wave searing Tri-State area residents may result in attendance record for Hancock County's Tomlinson Run State Park.

N. T. Holbrook, park supervisor for the past 6 years, said today that he expects an attendance figure of 240,000 to be posted by the end of this year. That would be an all-time record.

Holbrook based his prediction on the fact that the park on Route 2 near Pughtown has had 192,000 visitors already this year and there still are four more months. Attendance for 1958 was some 200,000.

The modern swimming pool has already attracted 47,000 — a record figure. The pool will close shortly after Labor Day, he said. Only 32,000 swimmers used pool facilities in 1958.

Boating on the park's 28 - acre lake has more than doubled while 6 cabins used by youth groups have been reserved until Sept. 12.

Confident Living

Dr. Norman Vincent Peale

A Visit With An Interesting Young King

I am writing this piece on the wide veranda of the Philadelphia Hotel in Amman, Jordan. Philadelphia is the old Biblical name of this place which was the capital of the ancient Ammonites. Directly across the road are well - preserved ruins of a Roman amphitheatre seating 4,000 persons, which indicates the town's importance from ancient times.

Dr. Peale

On the heights above the city David placed Uriah, the Hittite, in the forefront of the battle and had him killed, that he might take his wife Bathsheba. Not far away down the road to Jericho are the plains of Jubboch, where Jacob wrestled with the angel and where his name was changed from Jacob to Israel. Biblical history encircles you about at Amman. But current history also thrills.

AMMAN IS a rapidly growing city of nearly 300,000 people, swollen in the past 10 years by thousands of refugees from Palestine.

Built on seven hills, like Rome, the heights are crowned by beautiful homes. The center is an Oriental city with all the typical sights and sounds of teeming streets. Bearded bedouins, black-veiled women, sheiks and thousands of Jordanian soldiers mingle in the throngs. Cars weave in and out through a continuous procession of small, pert donkeys and ponderous camels carrying all sorts of produce. Bright - colored merchandise fills the shops and bazars.

Arabs are lovable people and in the many days I've spent in the Middle East I have a memory of flashing smiles and much kindness. They like Americans, whom they think of as friends, and they are very appreciative of our Point Four assistance in road building, education and industrial guidance.

UNRWA officials took me to refugee camps, of which there are 40 in Jordan, comprising some 600,000 displaced persons. In the whole Middle East the number is approximately one million who lost homes, property, jobs — everything. It is one of the great sociological problems in the world today.

One wonders if there can ever be true peace or prosperity in the world where any injustice remains uncorrected. The world cannot shut its eyes to any human problem and not suffer for it. Certainly we have not grown so callous that we do not care about human agony any more.

One individual I met, a young man 24 years of age, happens to be a king; King of the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan. He is a great favorite of his people. He flies a military plane; in fact, recently in the United States he flew at a speed of 1,000 miles an hour.

MY WIFE, my three children and I visited him in his palace high above the city. There is little formality and absolutely no stuffed - shirtism about this young king. He greeted us simply and with a very engaging smile. Dressed in a gray suit and red tie, he sat behind his desk and talked with us for more than half an hour.

He has a delightful sense of humor and we had a lot of fun in our visit. A sample of quick wit is the time, while he was touring the United States recently, an American girl tried to take a snapshot of him and in so doing stumbled over a rug and fell at his feet. With a grin, the young king said, "Isn't that a dainty dish to set before a king?"

For a youth of 24, King Hussein is the most mature man I think I have ever met. Being always interested in what makes people tick, I asked if I might put a personal question to him.

"In view of all you have been through (grandfather assassinated before his eyes; cousin, King of Iraq, murdered; an abortive attempt to overthrow his government; as well as difficult problems of state) how did you preserve such balance of mind and spirit?"

His quiet answer was, "I try to do right. I do my best, that is all. Then I leave it to God." And that isn't a bad answer for anyone, king or commoner. King Hussein impresses one as a born leader of men. As one of his prominent subjects said to me, "He is the grandson of a king, son of a king, and himself a king, but if he were a plain man he would still be somebody."

HE HAS great plans for his country, chief of which is to help his people to live lives of freedom and peace. He hopes that American citizens will get acquainted with Jordan and asked me to extend, on his behalf, an invitation to Americans to visit his country.

"What shall I say about Jordan to my fellow countrymen?" I asked.

"Just tell them what you see here. Just tell them the truth about us as you see it."

Well, I am glad to do just that and to say that I like the young king and his interesting people. I always shall carry pleasant memories of the beautiful land of Jordan set as a gem among the mountains of Moab and Judea.

Pennsy Cuts Nonunion Workers Pay 5-10%

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania Railroad announced Friday that salaries of nonunion employes will be cut by 5 to 10 per cent, effective next Tuesday.

The cut will be 10 per cent on salaries over $10,000, and 5 per cent on those above $7,200.

The railroad said the reductions, affecting executives, supervisors and some office employes, are a result of lost revenues in the steel strike which is now in its second month.

National Guardsman Got Red Face At Fair

At one minute to 6 a. m., the captain complained to the officials: "Someone over here claims she's Miss Ohio."

2 To Get Hearing After Alarm Over 'Hoax' Drowning

Drowning is not a joking matter, a Wellsville man and one from Negley learned today after they were held for hearings before County Judge Samuel Spalding at East Palestine.

The hoax resulted in a general alarm with sheriff's deputies and East Liverpool firemen called out to drag Beaver Creek at Fredericktown about 6 a. m. today.

George Crawford, 23, of 1006 Commerce St., Wellsville, and Curtis Hague, 34, of Negley R. D. 1 went swimming in the creek at 3:30 a. m.

Crawford swam out of sight and Hague believed he had drowned. Hague hurried home nd advised his father, who alerted authorities.

The sheriff's office sent deputies and firemen were called and Constable John Jackson arrived on the scene. They soon found Crawford asleep on a rock.

He said he was playing a joke on Hague.

Opening Day At Columbus

Ohio Fair Lures 102,000

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Opening day of the Ohio State Fair seems to have been a success but fair officials are hoping that things will get even better.

Friday's Youth Day drew a paid attendance of approximately 21,000, but crowds of youngsters came in on free passes. Fair officials set the attendance at 102,000, just a little higher than the 101,919 record first day of 1956. Paid attendance that day last year was 23,919.

Fairgoers got a little more than they had planned on when an afternoon rain storm sent them hurrying for tents and buildings and delayed the start of the afternoon Roy Rogers show for nearly an hour.

A Toledo boy, James Whitman, 17, won the baton twirling championship, but he didn't get to pick up his trophy. Either from the excitement or the hot, humid weather the youth fainted on the way to the judges stand.

Free fishing for children also took a tumble—no fish. Agriculture Director Robert Terhune said the fair had been unable to get any catfish to stock the pond. However, Terhune said he hopes to have the pond ready for the young anglers Monday.

In other contests:

Gene Schwartz, Gregory and Arthur Rush, all of Bucyrus, took team honors in the 4-H Club dairy judging event. Stark and Athens counties took the next two places.

The Taylor Combo of Mount took top honors in the teen talent hunt. They will appear on the Roy Rogers show at the fair. Bruce Douglas of Columbus was second and the San Sacks, a difieland group from Bellefontaine, were third.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown reported that the fair's voting machines showed fair visitors against abolishment of capital punishment by a vote of 69-177.

FBI Describes Bank Holdup At Yorkville As Well-Planned

STEUBENVILLE (AP) — While authorities spread the alarm in Ohio after last Saturday's $38,000 holdup of a Yorkville bank, the holdup men apparently were quietly rowing across the Ohio River to West Virginia in an inflatable raft.

At least four men were involved. They spent last Friday night in a parking lot in the small community of Short Creek, W. Va., about two miles upriver from Yorkville.

They were in two cars, one of which apparently was the red and white car later found abandoned in high grass along the river. The men slept in the cars.

The bank was held up at about 10:35 a. m. Saturday by two men wearing Alpine hats, blue seersucker suits, dark glasses and goatee beards.

They left the bank in the red and white car, but didn't drive out of Yorkville. The car, stolen from Pittsburgh Aug. 20, was found two days later between Ohio 7 and the river, inside the city limits.

The trail ended there—until FBI agents, questioning a number of people in the area, learned that workers on the lock and dam project at nearby Pike Island had seen two men rowing a yellow raft across the river Saturday morning.

The workers said the men deflated the raft at the other side of the river, loaded it into a car and drove off.

Anti-Litter Bags To Be Given In Polio Fund Drive

In co-operation with Gov. Cecil H. Underwood's plea for cleaner highways in West Virginia, an anti-litter campaign and a drive for polio funds will be combined in Hancock County beginning next week.

Civic groups will conduct house-to-house appeals for polio funds and set up roadblocks to receive donations from motorists.

Bert Byers of Weirton has been named county chairman, while Arnie Durham is chairman of the fund drive in Newell where the auxiliary of American Legion Post 114 will be in charge.

At an executive meeting of the auxiliary Wednesday night, Mrs. Cora LaNeve, president, appointed committee chairmen for the campaign. Newell volunteer firemen will conduct a roadblock next Saturday from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m.

Mrs. Mae Hupp and Miss Elizabeth Hupp are chairman of the house - to - house canvass Friday in Newell. Mrs. Nancy Mosher and Mrs. Genevieve Laneve are chairmen for solicitation of business establishments.

Gov. Underwood asked co-operation in making residents of West Virginia aware of anti-litter law passed in March which makes it unlawful to dump litter and trash on streets and alleys under penalty of stiff fines.

Building Firm Property Sold To Mike Turk

Plans for a new location for one familiar Broadway business place and expansion of another were announced today after Mike Turk, Inc., completed negotiations Friday for purchase of the former Brown & Williams Construction Co. property at 656 St. Clair Ave.

The Woomer Brothers Lumber Co. will occupy the former Brown & Williams building after remodeling work is completed, moving out of quarters in the old Standard Pottery Co. building on Broadway, also owned by Turk.

The used car lot of Mike Turk, Inc., which adjoins the old Standard Pottery building, will be expanded into the quarters formerly occupied by Woomers. As part of the shift of occupancy in the huge old brick pottery building, part of the rear of the structure will be razed.

Plans call for eventual demolition of the entire building, Turk said. The Woomer concern now utilizes all the building except the third floor.

Turk acquired the St. Clair Ave. property from the Brown & Williams firm, which shifted its operations from East Liverpool to Lisbon recently. Robert A. Williams is president; Walter A. Brown, vice president, and Richard Kenneth, secretary-treasurer. The building originally was erected as headquarters for the Nellis Construction Co., a general contracting firm. Brown & Williams acquired it a few years ago from the Nellis concern.

The property consists of a lot about 120-x-130 feet and a brick building approximately 90 x 120 feet. It also includes parking facilities. Brown & Williams occupied the building for about three years.

Work is scheduled to start immediately on the two buildings in preparation for the changes in occupancy. The remodeling is expected to be completed and the 2 firms' moves made within 60 to 90 days.

Building Firm Property Sold To Mike Turk

Plans for a new location for one familiar Broadway business place and expansion of another were announced today after Mike Turk, Inc., completed negotiations Friday for purchase of the former Brown & Williams Construction Co. property at 656 St. Clair Ave.

The Woomer Brothers Lumber Co. will occupy the former Brown & Williams building after remodeling work is completed, moving out of quarters in the old Standard Pottery Co. building on Broadway, also owned by Turk.

The used car lot of Mike Turk, Inc., which adjoins the old Standard Pottery building, will be expanded into the quarters formerly occupied by Woomers. As part of the shift of occupancy in the huge old brick pottery building, part of the rear of the structure will be razed.

Plans call for eventual demolition of the entire building, Turk said. The Woomer concern now utilizes all the building except the third floor.

Turk acquired the St. Clair Ave. property from the Brown & Williams firm, which shifted its operations from East Liverpool to Lisbon recently. Robert A. Williams is president; Walter A. Brown, vice president, and Richard Kenneth, secretary-treasurer. The building originally was erected as headquarters for the Nellis Construction Co., a general contracting firm. Brown & Williams acquired it a few years ago from the Nellis concern.

The property consists of a lot about 120-x-130 feet and a brick building approximately 90 x 120 feet. It also includes parking facilities. Brown & Williams occupied the building for about three years.

Work is scheduled to start immediately on the two buildings in preparation for the changes in occupancy. The remodeling is expected to be completed and the 2 firms' moves made within 60 to 90 days.

FBI Describes Bank Holdup At Yorkville As Well-Planned

STEUBENVILLE (AP) — While authorities spread the alarm in Ohio after last Saturday's $38,000 holdup of a Yorkville bank, the holdup men apparently were quietly rowing across the Ohio River to West Virginia in an inflatable raft.

That picture of the well-planned holdup and escape was given Friday by the FBI, which has been piecing together information from residents of both sides of the river.

At least four men were involved. They spent last Friday night in a parking lot in the small community of Short Creek, W. Va., about two miles upriver from Yorkville.

They were in two cars, one of which apparently was the red and white car later found abandoned in high grass along the river. The men slept in the cars.

The bank was held up at about 10:35 a. m. Saturday by two men wearing Alpine hats, blue seersucker suits, dark glasses and goatee beards.

They left the bank in the red and white car, but didn't drive out of Yorkville. The car, stolen from Pittsburgh Aug. 20, was found two days later between Ohio 7 and the river, inside the city limits.

The trail ended there—until FBI agents, questioning a number of people in the area, learned that workers on the lock and dam project at nearby Pike Island had seen two men rowing a yellow raft across the river Saturday morning.

The workers said the men deflated the raft at the other side of the river, loaded it into a car and drove off.

Tribe Tamed By Shaw As Lollar Cracks Homer

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Chicago's White Sox have a little breathing room now in the American League pennant race. They have padded their lead to 2½ games behind rookie Bob Shaw and Sherm Lollar.

Shaw, now 26, is the big right-hander everyone touted as a sure-fire rookie bet for Detroit a year ago last spring. By mid-June he was just a so-so reliever and the Tigers peddled him to the White Sox.

It wasn't until last May that he broke free of the bullpen—busting out when he got his chance as a starter by shutting out Boston on five singles in his first complete game. He's been a whiz ever since.

He put away a 14-4 record at Cleveland Friday night. He did it with a seven-hitter backed by Lollar's tie-breaking, three-run homer in the seventh which left fielder Minnie Minoso couldn't hold. It was a 7-3 victory that crushed the second place Indians' winning streak at eight.

With the opener of the four-game, showdown series in the bag — and a three-game edge in the lost column—Manager Al Lopez substituted Ken McBride (0-1) for ailing Dick Donovan in today's game. The Indians, now needing a sweep of the last three games to take first place, picked right-hander Jim Perry (10-5), thus far the AL's top rookie.

In the other AL games Friday night:

New York beat Washington 4-0 on Art Ditmar's two-hit pitching and three RBI; Frank Lary became the AL's top winner with his 17th victory as Detroit tied the Yankees for third by beating Kansas City 6-5 on Eddie Yost's 10th-inning homer; and Boston spilled Baltimore to fifth, winning 6-4 on Dick Gernert's two-run homer in the 10th.

In the National Leaague, San Francisco gained a three-game edge by beating back second-place Los Angeles 5-0. Sam Jones' eight-hitter and Willie Mays' three hits, one a three-run homer, did it in the opener of a three-game series.

Third place Milwaukee, 3½ games behind, beat Chicago's Cubs 9-3 as Lew Burdette won his 18th. Pittsburgh rapped Philadelphia 9-0 behind Vern Law's five-hitter, and St. Louis defeated Cincinnati 3-2.

The White Sox, who have played 12 games in 11 days since leading by 4½ games, blew 2-0 and 3-2 leads before nailing the Indians in the seventh against reliever Jim (Mudcat) Grant (8-6).

With a crowd of 70,398, largest of the season in the majors, sitting in at Cleveland, Nellie Fox and Jim Landis got the big frame started with singles. Then Lollar, at 35 a catcher always listed No. 1—behind Yankee Yogi Berra, hit his 20th home run, a shot that Minoso had in his glove before the ball plopped over the fence.

Shaw walked two and struck out five, blanking the Injuns on one hit after they had matched a single Sox run in the fifth.

Singles by Al Smith, Jim McAnany and Luis Aparicio had given Chicago two runs in the fourth against southpaw starter Jack Harshman, but the Sox then gave the Indians a quick tie on Aparicio's two-run error in the bottom of the fourth.

Ball Fooled Me, Minnie Says Of Lollar's Homer

CLEVELAND (AP)—"I had the ball right here," a crestfallen Minnie Minoso said Friday night as he pointed to his glove. But he dropped the ball and it fell over the fence, he said, and Sherm Lollar's drive went for a three-run homer.

The three runs broke a 3-3 tie and paced Chicago's White Sox to a 7-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians. The win, witnessed by 70,398—largest paid attendance in the major leagues this season—broke an eight-game Cleveland winning streak and put the White Sox 2½ games ahead of the second-place Indians.

He said Tito Francona, playing center field, hollered: "Lots of room, Minnie."

"I just drifted back and the ball kept going and going. Then I got near the fence and jumped and hit the fence at the same time. I didn't hit the fence hard, just a little, but it was enough to jar the ball out of my glove.

"I had the ball right here (he pointed to the fingers of his glove) and then I didn't have it. I've made lots of catches that were harder, but on those I knew the fence. This one fooled me."

Joe Gordon, Indians' manager, agreed Minoso should have had it, "but you still can't fault a guy who's done as much for us as Minnie has.

"It was a tough chance," Gordon continued, "and he'd have been a hero if he'd caught it, but the way Bob Shaw was going tonight we'd have needed a heck of a lot more than Minnie's catch to win."

Over in the happy Chicago dressing room, manager Al Lopez had many kind words for Shaw, who allowed the Indians seven hits in posting his 14th victory of the season.

Nelson Fox singled to center field to start the four-run seventh inning. Jim Landis followed with a single to left field and then Lollar hit his 20th home run of the season to put the game out of reach of the Indians.

Chicago scored two runs in the fourth inning on three singles and a sacrifice.

Cleveland tied the score in the bottom of the fourth on a two-run error by Luis Aparicio. Tito Francona, on first as the result of a fielder's choice, went to third when Rocky Colavito hit a double off third baseman Bubba Phillip's arm. Aparicio retrieved the ball in short left field, but threw wildly to second and both runners scored.

Miller Looks For 'Long Season' In 12th Year At New Cumberland

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

NEW CUMBERLAND — "Look for a long season at New Cumberland this year," was coach Charlie Miller's only comment on the outlook for 1959.

And he has good reason to feel that the Raiders won't be as capable this year as they were a year ago.

In addition to graduation, five boys who played varsity ball last year dropped out of school and three others became ineligible.

A regular from the 1958 team will be seen at end, with Fred Huff, 150-pound senior, back for another season, while Dale Fryer will return to his center post. Fryer is a 135-pound senior.

New Cumberland has its regular quarterback returning in George Harris, a 160-pound senior, but Miller has plans to use Harris at fullback, and move Charlie Miller (135) to quarterback. Young Miller is the son of the New Cumberland coach.

Vieing for the other halfback post will be Tom Hale (115), Joe Everly (120) and Tom Herron (135). Hale and Everly are juniors and Herron a senior.

Ed Price (155), who was a third string tackle last season, is expected to move into a starting job this season along with Chester Richmond, 160-pound senior.

Other prospects named by Miller include Tom Ross (150) and Jim Powell (175) at tackles, Jack Chetock (130) at guard and Larry Powell (130) at end.

Looking over the schedule, Miller said: "Madonna should be better all the way around and Wellsburg will be tough again."

Other home games for the Raiders show Cameron on Oct. 2, Brilliant, Oct. 16, Wellsburg, Oct. 23, and Mt. Pleasant, Oct. 30.

Illinois Shooter Captures Grand American Handicap

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

On the program with about 1,000 competing in each are the National Double Target Championship and the Vandalia Handicap.

Most of the fire went out of the annual clay carnival Friday as Clyde Bailey of Oquawka, Ill., a 39-year-old farmer, grabbed the meet's biggest prize the Grand American Handicap. Bailey defeated Harold J. Lippold, 48, of Omaha, Neb., in a shootoff for the crown after they had tied at 99 of 100.

Bailey fired from 21½ yards, Lippold from 19. The two divided some $8,000 for outshooting the field.

A half hour after the shootoff which was staged in almost complete darkness more than half the record field of 2,392 had headed for home leaving only the diehards for today's closing races.

Thirteen shooters tied at 98 back of the leaders and were to shootoff today for the lesser spots. Among them was Richard Hardy of Devon, Pa., whose wife, Susan, broke 97 from 19 yards to win the women's championship.

Philip Ross of Fontana, Calif., a 16-year-old, also was in the 98 bracket and was to make a choice today whether to accept the junior championship or go for the $700 third place prize in the shootoff.

The over - all championship, based on 1,000 targets thrown since Monday, and the all-around title based on 200 targets at 16 yards, the Grand American Handicap and the doubles championship will be decided following today's competition. The over-all race includes 600 targets at 16 yards, 300 at handicaps and 100 at doubles.

Friday's entry of 2,392 broke the record of 2,202 set a year ago.

Quits As Cage Coach

CLEVELAND (AP)—Jim Liddle has resigned as head basketball coach at Glenville High School to become dean of boys at Willoughby South High. He came to Glenville nine years ago after graduating from the University of Akron and has been head basketball coach for seven years.

U.S. Favored To Grab 5 More Pan-Am Titles

CHICAGO (AP) — The powerful U.S. team was favored to grab at least five more gold medals today as the Pan-American Games, off to a bewildering start, moved into the second day of competition.

Finals were scheduled in four men's events and the 60-meter dash for women in track and field skirmishing in Soldier Field, and Uncle Sam's athletes possibly could make it a sweep.

In Friday's opening round of nine sports, the U.S.A. captured three championships, while one each went to Argentina and Chile among the events in which gold medals were awarded.

Meet officials, deciding to make certain Connolly had an accurate new mark of 195 feet, 11½ inches, found in a survey it was a quarter inch short.

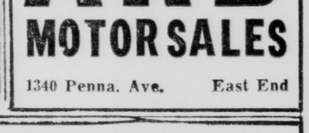

Under international rules, quarter inches are thrown out, so that left Connolly tied with Hall at 195-11. But, further following the rule book, the officials noted that Hall's second best throw was better than Connolly's, 192-4½ to 191-5. So the championship was awarded to Hall but both men were called co-record holders at 195-11.

The U. S. A.'s weightlifter, Charles Vinci, set a Pan American total lift record in the bantamweight division with 717 pounds. Vinci's press mark was 243 pounds.

White Sox Halt Indians' Streak, 7-3; Grab 2½-Game Edge

Tribe Tamed By Shaw As Lollar Cracks Homer

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Chicago's White Sox have a little breathing room now in the American League pennant race. They have padded their lead to 2½ games behind rookie Bob Shaw and Sherm Lollar.

Shaw, now 26, is the big right-hander everyone touted as a sure-fire rookie bet for Detroit a year ago last spring. By mid-June he was just a so-so reliever and the Tigers peddled him to the White Sox.

It wasn't until last May that he broke free of the bullpen—busting out when he got his chance as a starter by shutting out Boston on five singles in his first complete game. He's been a whiz ever since.

He put away a 14-4 record at Cleveland Friday night. He did it with a seven-hitter backed by Lollar's tie-breaking, three-run homer in the seventh which left fielder Minnie Minoso couldn't hold. It was a 7-3 victory that crushed the second place Indians' winning streak at eight.

With the opener of the four-game, showdown series in the bag — and a three-game edge in the lost column—Manager Al Lopez substituted Ken McBride (0-1) for ailing Dick Donovan in today's game. The Indians, now needing a sweep of the last three games to take first place, picked right-hander Jim Perry (10-5), thus far the AL's top rookie.

In the other AL games Friday night:

New York beat Washington 4-0 on Art Ditmar's two-hit pitching and three RBI; Frank Lary became the AL's top winner with his 17th victory as Detroit tied the Yankees for third by beating Kansas City 6-5 on Eddie Yost's 10th-inning homer; and Boston spilled Baltimore to fifth, winning 6-4 on Dick Gernert's two-run homer in the 10th.

In the National Leaague, San Francisco gained a three-game edge by beating back second-place Los Angeles 5-0. Sam Jones' eight-hitter and Willie Mays' three hits, one a three-run homer, did it in the opener of a three-game series.

Third place Milwaukee, 3½ games behind, beat Chicago's Cubs 9-3 as Lew Burdette won his 18th. Pittsburgh rapped Philadelphia 9-0 behind Vern Law's five-hitter, and St. Louis defeated Cincinnati 3-2.

The White Sox, who have played 12 games in 11 days since leading by 4½ games, blew 2-0 and 3-2 leads before nailing the Indians in the seventh against reliever Jim (Mudcat) Grant (8-6).

With a crowd of 70,398, largest of the season in the majors, sitting in at Cleveland, Nellie Fox and Jim Landis got the big frame started with singles. Then Lollar, at 35 a catcher always listed No. 1—behind Yankee Yogi Berra, hit his 20th home run, a shot that Minoso had in his glove before the ball plopped over the fence.

Ted Kluszewski then singled, bringing on reliever Larry Locke, and a wild pitch, sacrifice and infield out closed the scoring.

Shaw walked two and struck out five, blanking the Injuns on one hit after they had matched a single Sox run in the fifth.

Singles by Al Smith, Jim McAnany and Luis Aparicio had given Chicago two runs in the fourth against southpaw starter Jack Harshman, but the Sox then gave the Indians a quick tie on Aparicio's two-run error in the bottom of the fourth.

Ball Fooled Me, Minnie Says Of Lollar's Homer

CLEVELAND (AP)—"I had the ball right here," a crestfallen Minnie Minoso said Friday night as he pointed to his glove. But he dropped the ball and it fell over the fence, he said, and Sherm Lollar's drive went for a three-run homer.

The three runs broke a 3-3 tie and paced Chicago's White Sox to a 7-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians. The win, witnessed by 70,398—largest paid attendance in the major leagues this season—broke an eight-game Cleveland winning streak and put the White Sox 2½ games ahead of the second-place Indians.

"I just drifted back and the ball kept going and going. Then I got near the fence and jumped and hit the fence at the same time. I didn't hit the fence hard, just a little, but it was enough to jar the ball out of my glove.

"I had the ball right here (he pointed to the fingers of his glove) and then I didn't have it. I've made lots of catches that were harder, but on those I knew the ball was gonna be near the fence. This one fooled me."

Joe Gordon, Indians' manager, agreed Minoso should have had it, "but you still can't fault a guy who's done as much for us as Minnie has.

"It was a tough chance," Gordon continued, "and he'd have been a hero if he'd caught it, but the way Bob Shaw was going tonight we'd have needed a heck of a lot more than Minnie's catch to win."

Over in the happy Chicago dressing room, manager Al Lopez had many kind words for Shaw, who allowed the Indians seven hits in posting his 14th victory of the season.

Shaw got tapped for two runs in the fourth and one in the fifth, but the 26-year-old right-hander permitted only one hit, a single by George Strickland, in the final four innings.

Nelson Fox singled to center field to start the four-run seventh inning. Jim Landis followed with a single to left field and then Lollar hit his 20th home run of the season to put the game out of reach of the Indians.

Grant was relieved by Bobby Locke after Ted Kluszewski hit a single following Lollar's homer. A wild pitch, a sacrifice and a ground ball brought in Chicago's fourth run of the inning.

The score was tied at 3-3 going into the seventh.

Chicago scored two runs in the fourth inning on three singles and a sacrifice.

Cleveland tied the score in the bottom of the fourth on a two-run error by Luis Aparicio. Tito Francona, on first as the result of a fielder's choice, went to third when Rocky Colavito hit a double off third baseman Bubba Phillip's arm. Aparicio retrieved the ball in short left field, but threw wildly to second and both runners scored.

The White Sox went ahead with a run in the fifth on a walk to Fox, a double by Landis and an infield out.

Miller Looks For 'Long Season' In 12th Year At New Cumberland

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

NEW CUMBERLAND — "Look for a long season at New Cumberland this year," was coach Charlie Miller's only comment on the outlook for 1959.

And he has good reason to feel that the Raiders won't be as capable this year as they were a year ago.

New Cumberland lost the third leading scorer in the district last season—Phil Cullen—through graduation, plus five other regulars.

In addition to graduation, five boys who played varsity ball last year dropped out of school and three others became ineligible.

The New Cumberland coach, beginning his 12th season, is left without a regular halfback, but Ron Haynes, a 170-pound junior, saw some action at this spot last year and is one of the leading candidates at the present, Miller said.

A regular from the 1958 team will be seen at end, with Fred Huff, 150-pound senior, back for another season, while Dale Fryer will return to his center post. Fryer is a 135-pound senior.

New Cumberland has its regular quarterback returning in George Harris, a 160-pound senior, but Miller has plans to use Harris at fullback, and move Charlie Miller (135) to quarterback. Young Miller is the son of the New Cumberland coach.

Vieing for the other halfback post will be Tom Hale (115), Joe Everly (120) and Tom Herron (135). Hale and Everly are juniors and Herron a senior.

Ed Price (155), who was a third string tackle last season, is expected to move into a starting job this season along with Chester Richmond, 160-pound senior.

Other prospects named by Miller include Tom Ross (150) and Jim Powell (175) at tackles, Jack Chetock (130) at guard and Larry Powell (130) at end.

Looking over the schedule, Miller said: "Madonna should be better all the way around and Wellsburg will be tough again."

Other home games for the Raiders show Cameron on Oct. 2, Brilliant, Oct. 16, Wellsburg, Oct. 23, and Mt. Pleasant, Oct. 30.

U.S. Favored To Grab 5 More Pan-Am Titles

CHICAGO (AP) — The powerful U.S. team was favored to grab at least five more gold medals today as the Pan-American Games, off to a bewildering start, moved into the second day of competition.

Finals were scheduled in four men's events and the 60-meter dash for women in track and field skirmishing in Soldier Field, and Uncle Sam's athletes possibly could make it a sweep.

In Friday's opening round of nine sports, the U.S.A. captured three championships, while one each went to Argentina and Chile among the events in which gold medals were awarded.

Several hours after hammer thrower Harold Connolly was proclaimed a record-breaking champion, his U.S.A. team-mate, Al Hall, was named the winner of the wiredball event.

Meet officials, deciding to make certain Connolly had an accurate new mark of 195 feet, 11½ inches, found in a survey it was a quarter inch short.

Under international rules, quarter inches are thrown out, so that left Connolly tied with Hall at 195-11. But, further following the rule book, the officials noted that Hall's second best throw was better than Connolly's, 192-4½ to 191-5. So the championship was awarded to Hall but both men were called co-record holders at 195-11.

The U. S. A.'s weightlifter, Charles Vinci, set a Pan American total lift record in the bantamweight division with 717 pounds. Vinci's press mark was 243 pounds.

Argentina's Oswaldo Suarez brilliantly defended his 10,000 meters title with a new meet record of 30 minutes, 17.2 seconds.

Illinois Shooter Captures Grand American Handicap

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

On the program with about 1,000 competing in each are the National Double Target Championship and the Vandalia Handicap.

Most of the fire went out of the annual clay carnival Friday as Clyde Bailey of Oquawka, Ill., a 39-year-old farmer, grabbed the meet's biggest prize the Grand American Handicap. Bailey defeated Harold J. Lippold, 48, of Omaha, Neb., in a shootoff for the crown after they had tied at 99 of 100.

Bailey fired from 21½ yards, Lippold from 19. The two divided some $8,000 for outshooting the field.

A half hour after the shootoff which was staged in almost complete darkness more than half the record field of 2,392 had headed for home leaving only the diehards for today's closing races.

Thirteen shooters tied at 98 back of the leaders and were to shootoff today for the lesser spots. Among them was Richard Hardy of Devon, Pa., whose wife, Susan, broke 97 from 19 yards to win the women's championship.

Philip Ross of Fontana, Calif., a 16-year-old, also was in the 98 bracket and was to make a choice today whether to accept the junior championship or go for the $700 third place prize in the shootoff.

The over - all championship, based on 1,000 targets thrown since Monday, and the all-around title based on 200 targets at 16 yards, the Grand American Handicap and the doubles championship will be decided following today's competition. The over-all race includes 600 targets at 16 yards, 300 at handicaps and 100 at doubles.

Friday's entry of 2,392 broke the record of 2,202 set a year ago.

Giants Blank Dodgers To Nail 3-Game Lead

Law Pitches Bucs Victory; Braves Win

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Those San Francisco Giants looked like they could have danced all night as they waltzed away with a three-game lead in the National League pennant chase.

The Giants got all their runs in the first two innings, three on Willie Mays' 23rd homer, then relaxed behind Sam Jones for a 5-0 victory at Los Angeles Friday night in the opener of a three-game series with the second place Dodgers.

They ripped into Don Drysdale, who had won five of six from them over the past year, and handing the right-handed ace his fourth straight defeat while Jones struck out 11, walked none and gave up eight hits.

The loss ended a three - game slump for the Giants, who lost all three within 24 hours at Philadelphia on the heels of a night game in Pittsburgh. It also trimmed the Dodgers' edge over third place Milwaukee to a half-game. The Braves whipped Chicago's Cubs 9-3 as Lew Burdette won his 18th.

Pittsburgh rapped Philadelphia 9-0 behind a five-hitter by Vern Law. St. Louis defeated Cincinnati 3-2 on Joe Cunningham's two-run double in the ninth.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox defeated Cleveland 7-3 in the opener of a four-game showdown, ending the second place Indians' winning streak at eight on Bob Shaw's eight hit pitching and Sherm Lollar's tie-breaking, three-run homer in the seventh.

New York defeated Washington 4-0, Detroit beat Kansas City 6-5 in 10 innings, and Boston defeated Baltimore 6-4 in 10 innings.

Drysdale (15-10) looked back in stride when he fanned leadoff man Jackie Brandt on three pitches, but Mays, Willie McCovey and Orlando Cepeda then lined doubles for a 2-0 lead.

Mays also singled, for three hits, while McCovey, the rookie sensation the Dodgers claimed they could stop, extended his hitting streak to 12 games while collecting two hits along with Cepeda.

Jones was in trouble in the first inning, when the Dodgers loaded the bases with two out on singles, but Charlie Neal flied out. After that Jones breezed for his fifth complete game against the Dodgers and a 3-2 record against Los Angeles.

Home runs by Hank Aaron (34), Joe Adcock (20) and Del Crandall (7) backed Burdette. He struck out four and didn't walk a man, losing his shutout in the sixth on a double by Tony Taylor and rookie George Altman's eighth home run. Bob Anderson (11-9) lost it.

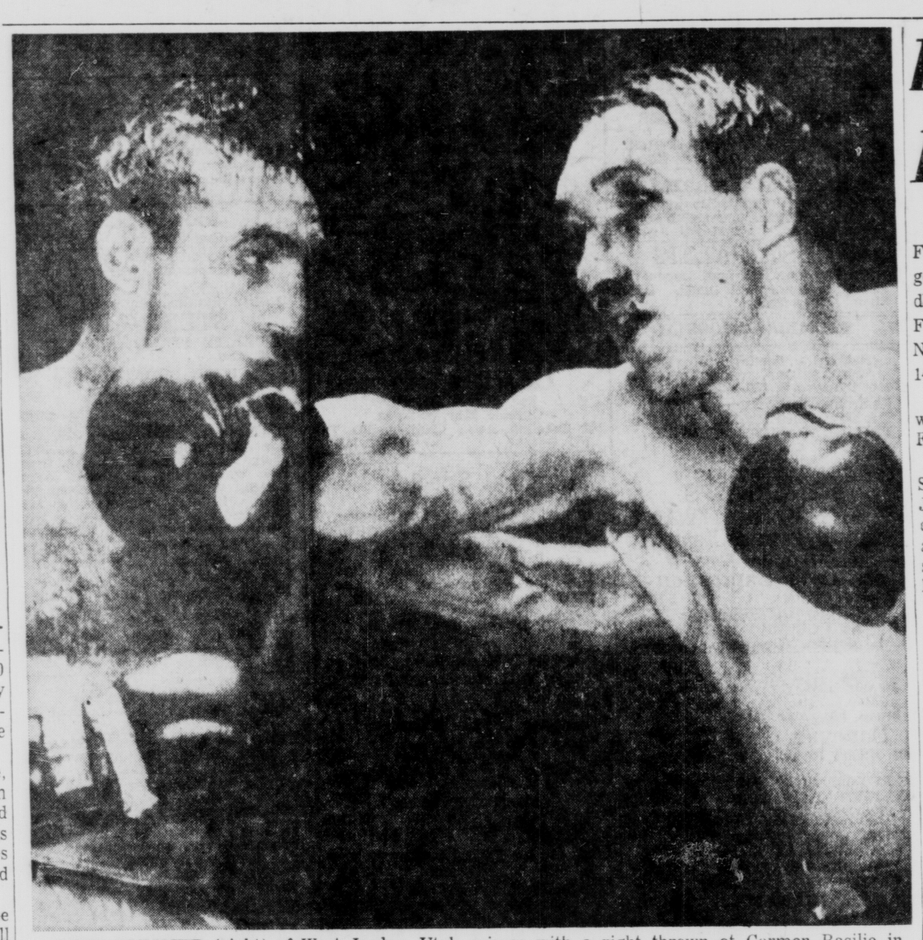

The Pirates got homers from Bob Clemente, Rocky Nelson and Smoky Burgess in a 10-hit attack against rookie Ed Keegan (0-2) and two relievers.

Cunningham's double, following a pinch single by Gino Cimoli and a walk, beat Don Newcombe (12-7), who had the Cards shut out until the seventh. Rookie Marshall Bridges (5-3) won it in relief of Ernie Broglio, who gave up all five Cincy hits, three in the fifth when the Reds scored both runs.

GENE FULIMER (right) of West Jordan, Utah, misses with a right thrown at Carmen Basilio in the 13th round of their bout for the world middleweight title Friday night at San Francisco, but he won in the next round when the referee stopped the bout, ruling Basilio unable to continue. (UPI Telephoto)

Fullmer Defeats Basilio For Title

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —Gene Fullmer wants Carmen Basilio to get another crack at the NBA middleweight title which Fullmer won Friday night by stopping the New York onion farmer in the 14th round.

The nationally televised fight was a bruiser, but the underdog Fullmer led all the way.

When it was over, the Mormon Sunday school teacher from West Jordan, Utah said Basilio had earned a rematch with his courageous effort. Gene's eyes were swollen and nearly closed, Basilio looked even worse.

"It was my toughest fight," said the 28-year-old Fullmer, who previously had won and lost in title fights with Ray Robinson. Basilio, 32, had a similar history against Robinson, who is recognized now as the middleweight champ in only New York and Massachusetts.

It was also Fullmer's biggest payday — $80,595 from 25 per cent of the $122,380 net gate and the same percentage from $175,000 TV money. Basilio, who had been ranked above Fullmer got 35 per cent — $112,833.

The National Boxing Assn. stripped Robinson of his title May 4 for failure to defend within a year. In sanctioning this fight, it told the winner to meet the association's No. 1 challenger within 90 days. That foe will be chosen next week.

Green Team, Hayes Says Of OSU Eleven

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—They may wear scarlet and grey, but Ohio State's 1959 football team will be green.

"We'll be extremely green any way you look at it," head coach Woody Hayes told newsmen Friday night. He said 34 sophomores are on the Buckeye roster and added that if the opening game was today only two seniors would be on the starting team.

He said most of his team's position are set.

"We think we know from spring practice who our best boys are by now," he commented.

Hayes said he was aware his boys were not very high in national polls, "but I've a hunch we can prove them all wrong, too."

End Jim Houston and fullback Bob White were the seniors Hayes included in the first team.

The new substitution rule will create a tendency toward platoon football, Hayes said, but he added Ohio State will continue to play its best players most of the time.

Olmedo Bows, Mackay Wins In Cup Play

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Perry Jones refused to bow to pressure from all sides today and stuck with Alex Olmedo and Earl (Butch) Buchholz against Australia's Neale Fraser and Roy Emerson in the Davis Cup doubles.

With the count one-all after splitting the opening singles Friday, Jones said he found a veritable tiger in Barry Mackay, the towering Air Force private from Dayton, Ohio.

Mackay saved the day by crushing Rod Laver 7-5, 6-4, 6-1, after Fraser had shocked the U.S. camp with an 8-6, 6-8, 6-4, 8-6 victory over Alex Olmedo, the U.S. lend-lease ace from Peru.

Australian captain Harry Hopman thought Fraser and Emerson have a "slight" edge on Olmedo and Buchholz.

Only in the second set, which Olmedo won, was there more than one service break. Otherwise, Fraser was content to ride along, wait for an opening and cash in on it.

Mackay was all over Laver. Big Barry, who gets out of the Air Force Sept. 5, never gave Laver a chance.

The only trouble Mackay had was in the fifth game of the third set when he had things all wrapped up. He served four straight double faults.

Roberts Rejoins Phils; Doesn't Have Diabetes

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Robin Roberts rejoins the Philadelphia Phillies tonight in Pittsburgh, satisfied that he does not have diabetes.

Dr. George Laquer, team physician, said Friday that he was placing the 32-year-old right-hander on a special diet until he can determine what caused sugar in his system.

Giants Blank Dodgers To Nail 3-Game Lead

Law Pitches Bucs Victory; Braves Win

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Those San Francisco Giants looked like they could have danced all night as they waltzed away with a three-game lead in the National League pennant chase.

The Giants got all their runs in the first two innings, three on Willie Mays' 23rd homer, then relaxed behind Sam Jones for a 5-0 victory at Los Angeles Friday night in the opener of a three-game series with the second place Dodgers.

They ripped into Don Drysdale, who had won five of six from them over the past year, and handing the right-handed ace his fourth straight defeat while Jones struck out 11, walked none and gave up eight hits.

The loss ended a three - game slump for the Giants, who lost all three within 24 hours at Philadelphia on the heels of a night game in Pittsburgh. It also trimmed the Dodgers' edge over third place Milwaukee to a half-game. The Braves whipped Chicago's Cubs 9-3 as Lew Burdette won his 18th.

Pittsburgh rapped Philadelphia 9-0 behind a five-hitter by Vern Law. St. Louis defeated Cincinnati 3-2 on Joe Cunningham's two-run double in the ninth.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox defeated Cleveland 7-3 in the opener of a four-game showdown, ending the second place Indians' winning streak at eight on Bob Shaw's eight hit pitching and Sherm Lollar's tie-breaking, three-run homer in the seventh.

New York defeated Washington 4-0, Detroit beat Kansas City 6-5 in 10 innings, and Boston defeated Baltimore 6-4 in 10 innings.

Drysdale (15-10) looked back in stride when he fanned leadoff man Jackie Brandt on three pitches, but Mays, Willie McCovey and Orlando Cepeda then lined doubles for a 2-0 lead.

Mays also singled, for three hits, while McCovey, the rookie sensation the Dodgers claimed they could stop, extended his hitting streak to 12 games while collecting two hits along with Cepeda.

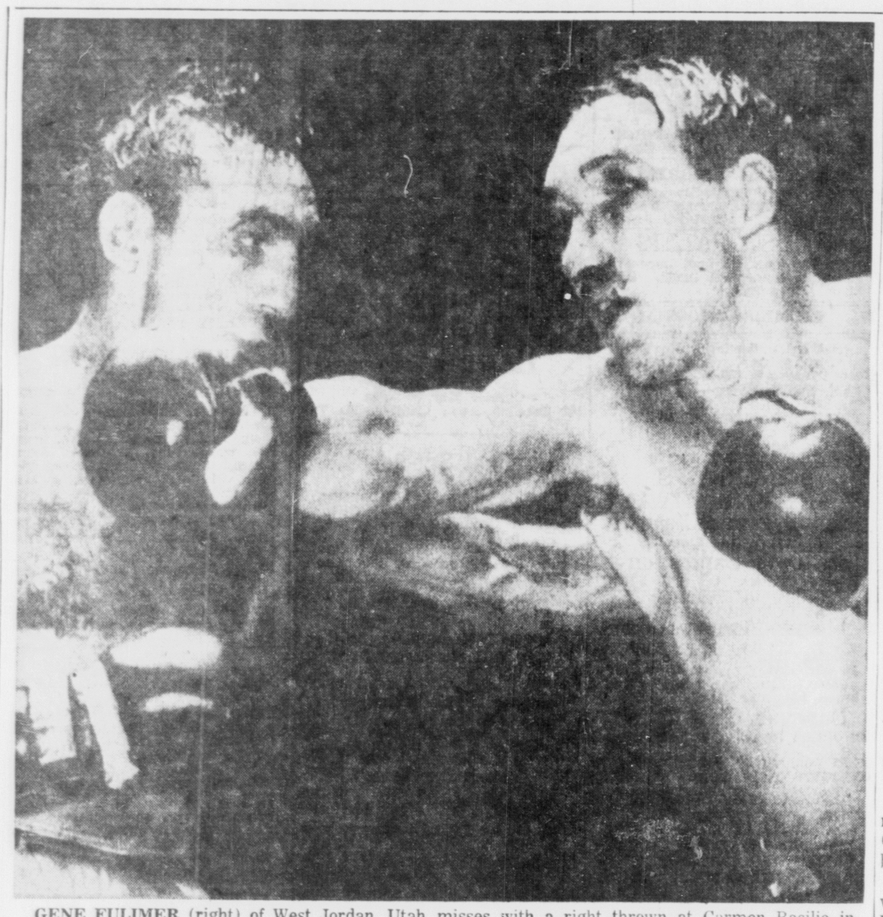

Jones was in trouble in the first inning, when the Dodgers loaded the bases with two out on singles, but Charlie Neal flied out. After that Jones breezed for his fifth complete game against the Dodgers and a 3-2 record against Los Angeles.

Home runs by Hank Aaron (34), Joe Adcock (20) and Del Crandall (7) backed Burdette. He struck out four and didn't walk a man, losing his shutout in the sixth on a double by Tony Taylor and rookie George Altman's eighth home run. Bob Anderson (11-9) lost it.

The Pirates got homers from Bob Clemente, Rocky Nelson and Smoky Burgess in a 10-hit attack against rookie Ed Keegan (0-2) and two relievers.

Law (15-7) gave up nothing but singles, three by Wally Post, walked none and struck out seven.

Cunningham's double, following a pinch single by Gino Cimoli and a walk, beat Don Newcombe (12-7), who had the Cards shut out until the seventh. Rookie Marshall Bridges (5-3) won it in relief of Ernie Broglio, who gave up all five Cincy hits, three in the fifth when the Reds scored both runs.

GENE FULIMER (right) of West Jordan, Utah, misses with a right thrown at Carmen Basilio in the 13th round of their bout for the world middleweight title Friday night at San Francisco, but he won in the next round when the referee stopped the bout, ruling Basilio unable to continue. (UPI Telephoto)

40 At Fairview Farewell Fete

A farewell picnic was given by 40 members and guests of the New Salem Presbyterian Church of Ohio Township for Misses Peggy Townsend and Judy Engle Wednesday night at East Palestine City Park. Both are of Fairview.

Frank Lehi and William Petz were social chairmen.

Miss Townsend will leave soon to teach in the Navajo Indian reservation in Arizona and Miss Engle will enter Indiana State Teachers College as a freshmen.

The first dance of the fall season will be held by the Fairview Youth Canteen in the Fairview Grange Hall from 8 to 11 p. m. Friday.

The canteen is sponsored by the Fairview Grange and the Fairview Parent - Teacher Association and features recorded music for teenagers from seventh grade through 19 years of age.

New Effort Due To Reach Accord In Gas Dispute

CLEVELAND (AP) — Another effort will be made today to reach agreement on terms of a settlement of a strike-threatening dispute between the Natural Gas Workers Union and the East Ohio Gas Co.

Company and union representatives will meet with federal counciliator Edward L. Phillips. They failed to reach agreement on a new contract in a negotiation session Friday night.

The independent union has threatened to strike Monday unless a settlement is reached by that time. It represents 2,500 East Ohio employes.

The company, which has not had a strike in its 61-year history, serves 800,000 customers in 11 northeastern Ohio counties. A company spokesman indicated service would be maintained with the aid of supervisors in the event of a strike.

Union president John D. Nagle said the union and company remain apart on money issues.

B&O To Recall 227 Furloughed Car Repairmen

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad said today that 227 furloughed freight car repairmen have been recalled, effective Sept. 1, at four repair centers.

The order, ending furloughs caused by the steel strike, affects 45 employes at Keyser, W. Va., 90 at Brunswick, Md., 23 at Chillicothe, Ohio, and 69 at Washington, Ind.

The railroad said the men are being recalled to make certain the B&O has an adequate supply of freight cars to handle an upsurge in traffic expected when the steel industry difficulties are settled. The group recalled was laid off July 1.

The B&O has furloughed about 3,400 employes in various classifications because of the steel shutdown.

Boilermakers Strike Settled At 3 Firms

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Part of the strike of boilermakers has been settled and some 200 workers will return to work Monday at three companies.

It was announced Friday agreements have been reached with Combustion Engineering Co., Research Co., and Connery Construction Co. Terms of the new contract were not made available. Strikes continue against 12 other firms.

The strike began June 1 after the Boilermakers Union and the Boilermakers Employers Assn. failed to reach agreement on a new contract.

Jap Firms Underquote U.S. On Canal Devices

PANAMA (AP)—Two Japanese firms bidding jointly underquoted four American manufacturers by a wide margin on a contract to furnish new "electric mules" for the Panama Canal.

Because of many technical factors involved, however, it may be several weeks before a contract for replacement of towing locomotives is awarded.

In Critical Condition

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP)—U. S. Commissioner J. Stewart Ake, 62, of Canton, was reported in critical condition at Alliance City Hospital today with injuries suffered in a head-on collision of two automobiles. He was injured Friday on U. S. 62 about four miles west of here. Deputy sheriff Maurice Hannon, 49, of Massillon, driver of the car in which Ake was a passenger, was reported in poor condition. The driver of the other car suffered minor injuries.

Medical Figure Dies

Mrs. Charles W. Riel will be soloist and her selections will include "With Verdure Clad" and "The Creation" (Haydn), "My Friend" (Malotte), and "This Day Is Mine" (Ware). Mrs. Mildred Weaver Gaston will be at the piano.

Other music will include the organ prelude, "Suite Joyeuse" (Diggle), and recessionals, "Triumphal March from "Aida" (Verdi), and "March Noble" (Bach). Mrs. Jessie Hall Kaufman will be at the organ.

Dr. Edith S. Gilmore will introduce Eugene Carr of Canton, director of radio for the Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc., as graduation speaker.

Mrs. Francis Lang, chairman of the nursing school committee, will be in charge of the presentation of awards which will include the Lions Club, Private Duty Section, Albert I. McLean and anonymous awards. Mrs. Sarah Davis, director of the school, will present the diplomas to the 20 graduates.

The invocation and benediction will be given by the Rev. M. Rudolph Miller.

Myers Again To Take First Deputy Bank Post

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Starting Tuesday, Alfred F. Myers of Ashley (Delaware County) again will be Ohio's first deputy superintendent of banks.

Myers, who is 47, originally took the first deputy job March 15, 1958, taking leave of his post as a state bank examiner. But last March 1 he left the first deputy's office to become an examiner again, and Raymond H. Willett took over.

Willett was appointed to the superintendent's post when Robert E. McDaniel, a victim of cancer, retired this summer. Friday Willett announced that Myers would return to the first deputy's job Sept. 1.

Chester Lions Aid 2 Groups

A $6 donation was made to the Northern Hancock County Council for Retarded Children and $20 to the West Virginia Lions Sight Conservation Foundation at Charleston.

The second family picnic will be held Sept. 24 at the home of Walter Jordan on Route 66 near Waterford Park race track. Jordan and John Abrams will be in charge.

Discussed were the membership drive to be held in September and October and the fall minstrel, possibly in November, with Anthony Bernardi chairman.

Members also discussed cleaning and painting the clubhouse in the next 30 days. A final report on the recent carnival, given by Donald Hood, treasurer, showed nearly $400 netted.

Richard Berkheimer of California Ave. was a guest. Next meeting will be Sept. 10 with George Durbin, Deno Rossi and Jerry D'Angelo in charge.

40 At Fairview Farewell Fete

A farewell picnic was given by 40 members and guests of the New Salem Presbyterian Church of Ohio Township for Misses Peggy Townsend and Judy Engle Wednesday night at East Palestine City Park. Both are of Fairview.

Frank Lehi and William Petz were social chairmen.

Miss Townsend will leave soon to teach in the Navajo Indian reservation in Arizona and Miss Engle will enter Indiana State Teachers College as a freshmen.

The first dance of the fall season will be held by the Fairview Youth Canteen in the Fairview Grange Hall from 8 to 11 p. m. Friday.

The canteen is sponsored by the Fairview Grange and the Fairview Parent - Teacher Association and features recorded music for teenagers from seventh grade through 19 years of age.

New Effort Due To Reach Accord In Gas Dispute

CLEVELAND (AP) — Another effort will be made today to reach agreement on terms of a settlement of a strike-threatening dispute between the Natural Gas Workers Union and the East Ohio Gas Co.

Company and union representatives will meet with federal counciliator Edward L. Phillips. They failed to reach agreement on a new contract in a negotiation session Friday night.

The independent union has threatened to strike Monday unless a settlement is reached by that time. It represents 2,500 East Ohio employes.

The company, which has not had a strike in its 61-year history, serves 800,000 customers in 11 northeastern Ohio counties. A company spokesman indicated service would be maintained with the aid of supervisors in the event of a strike.

Union president John D. Nagle said the union and company remain apart on money issues.

B&O To Recall 227 Furloughed Car Repairmen

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad said today that 227 furloughed freight car repairmen have been recalled, effective Sept. 1, at four repair centers.

The order, ending furloughs caused by the steel strike, affects 45 employes at Keyser, W. Va., 90 at Brunswick, Md., 23 at Chillicothe, Ohio, and 69 at Washington, Ind.

The railroad said the men are being recalled to make certain the B&O has an adequate supply of freight cars to handle an upsurge in traffic expected when the steel industry difficulties are settled. The group recalled was laid off July 1.

The B&O has furloughed about 3,400 employes in various classifications because of the steel shutdown.

Boilermakers Strike Settled At 3 Firms

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Part of the strike of boilermakers has been settled and some 200 workers will return to work Monday at three companies.

It was announced Friday agreements have been reached with Combustion Engineering Co., Research Co., and Connery Construction Co. Terms of the new contract were not made available. Strikes continue against 12 other firms.

The strike began June 1 after the Boilermakers Union and the Boilermakers Employers Assn. failed to reach agreement on a new contract.

Jap Firms Underquote U.S. On Canal Devices

PANAMA (AP)—Two Japanese firms bidding jointly underquoted four American manufacturers by a wide margin on a contract to furnish new "electric mules" for the Panama Canal.

Because of many technical factors involved, however, it may be several weeks before a contract for replacement of towing locomotives is awarded.

In Critical Condition

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP)—U. S. Commissioner J. Stewart Ake, 62, of Canton, was reported in critical condition at Alliance City Hospital today with injuries suffered in a head-on collision of two automobiles. He was injured Friday on U. S. 62 about four miles west of here. Deputy sheriff Maurice Hannon, 49, of Massillon, driver of the car in which Ake was a passenger, was reported in poor condition. The driver of the other car suffered minor injuries.

Medical Figure Dies

Myers Again To Take First Deputy Bank Post

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Starting Tuesday, Alfred F. Myers of Ashley (Delaware County) again will be Ohio's first deputy superintendent of banks.

Myers, who is 47, originally took the first deputy job March 15, 1958, taking leave of his post as a state bank examiner. But last March 1 he left the first deputy's office to become an examiner again, and Raymond H. Willett took over.

Willett was appointed to the superintendent's post when Robert E. McDaniel, a victim of cancer, retired this summer. Friday Willett announced that Myers would return to the first deputy's job Sept. 1.

Chester Lions Aid 2 Groups

A $6 donation was made to the Northern Hancock County Council for Retarded Children and $20 to the West Virginia Lions Sight Conservation Foundation at Charleston.

The second family picnic will be held Sept. 24 at the home of Walter Jordan on Route 66 near Waterford Park race track. Jordan and John Abrams will be in charge.

Discussed were the membership drive to be held in September and October and the fall minstrel, possibly in November, with Anthony Bernardi chairman.

Members also discussed cleaning and painting the clubhouse in the next 30 days. A final report on the recent carnival, given by Donald Hood, treasurer, showed nearly $400 netted.

Richard Berkheimer of California Ave. was a guest. Next meeting will be Sept. 10 with George Durbin, Deno Rossi and Jerry D'Angelo in charge.
